Four Lorain Men Miraculously Miss Death In Mishap

J. C. STANDEN, ARTHUR MINNICH, J. KING AND R. W. WRIGHT, WERE RETURNING FROM SHAKER HEIGHTS VOLLEY BALL GAME WHEN AUTO WAS SIDESWIPED BY ANOTHER MACHINE

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Four prominent Lorain men, members of the Lorain Volley Ball team, champions of the state of Ohio, including City Treasurer J. C. Standen, Arthur Minnich, draftsman, J. King, engineer and R. W. Wright, music teacher, were injured and narrowly escaped death late Saturday night when an automobile in which they were riding was "sideswiped" by another machine at Stop 48, between Cleveland and Lorain.

The party of Lorain men were just returning from Shaker Heights, where they, with the remainder of the Lorain Volley Ball team had defeated the first Shaker Heights team in three games.

Terrific Crash
R. W. Wright, driver of the machine, left Cleveland shortly after midnight. He was preceded by James Daniels, who took the remainder of the team in his Buick roadster and left probably five minutes before the Wright machine. Mr. Daniels did not know anything of the wreck of his team mates until this morning.

The injured players say that as Wright drove his car past Stop 45 he noticed a machine coming from the direction of Lorain. They say that Wright pulled to the right side of the road to give the other machine plenty of room to pass. They say Wright brought his machine to almost a stop.

Witnesses say that the driver of the machine going East, caught the fender of the Wright machine and plowed into the side of the machine containing the Lorain volley ball players.

Another Auto Aids
The Lorain men did not have time to jump. They were caught by flying glass, as the window shield of their car gave way.

Another machine, which happened to be coming from Cleveland to Lorain, halted and rushed the Lorain men to this city where they were given medical care.

The four men were not seriously injured, although all had to be given medical attention.

The men who were riding with Wright say that he is an unusually careful driver and that the accident Saturday night was wholly the fault of the Cleveland driver.

List of Injured
Injured in Saturday night's auto accident are:

J. C. Standen, City Treasurer, cut about the face and head by flying glass. Body bruised.

J. King, Lorain High School engineer, cut about face and head by flying glass.

Arthur Minnich, draftsman, body bruised.

R. W. Wright, cut about face and head by flying glass.

CROSSING SCENE OF CIRCUS WRECK

PORTER, Ind., Feb. 28.—Another element was added to the confusion here this morning when the scanty food supply of the town was exhausted, after feeding wreck victims and rescuers all night. Supplies are being rushed from Gary and other nearby towns, however.

Last night's wreck was the second bad disaster on the Michigan Central in the past three years.

On July 22, 1918, 61 persons were killed and 179 injured in a rear end collision between an equipment train and a Wallace Hagenbeck circus train five miles west of Gary, Ind., not far from the scene of the present crash. In both cases several wooden coaches contributed to the death toll.

RAILWAY MEN RESUME WORK

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Local lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will hold a meeting at the K. of P. Temple, 1924 Broadway, this evening for the purpose of taking up some special business after which an entertainment and supper will be served.

This meeting will be the beginning of the railroad men's busy season as the shipping season is about to open as well as navigation on the lakes. Sixteen crews of the B. & O. who have been idle for some time will start to work this week. At least they have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for the call.

Lucinda Davies Asks A Divorce

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Lucinda Davies, Lorain woman, is asking the court for a divorce from her husband John Davies. She alleges cruelty and that he has assaulted her on many occasions.

On Feb. 24th, he drove her from home and on her return the next day attempted to throw her out of the house. She states that while she has had to work running a running a boarding house he has been idle and she asks a divorce, alimony and an injunction preventing his disposing of their property, or interfering with her.

MELLON SLATED AS SECRETARY OF TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—A. W. Mellon of Pittsburgh, who is slated for the post of secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President-elect Harding, called at the treasury department today.

Secretary of the Treasury Houston was out of the building when Mr. Mellon called, and he went in conference with Assistant Secretary Gilbert.

After a two hours' conference with Assistant Secretary Gilbert Mellon stated that he could not discuss matters for publication, and stated that his appointment as secretary of the treasury had not been "definitely" made and was "still undecided."

He said, however, that he would return to Washington March 3.

Architect Sues To Collect Fees

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Paul A. Rissman, Lorain architect, has filed suit in the common pleas court asking for a balance of $227.64 he claims to be due for furnishing the plans and specifications for the Elyria Market & Storage Co. building, on West Broad street.

The museum of art, Cleveland, O., conducts special art lessons free to promising pupils.

During the past ten years the attendance at high schools in Philadelphia has increased 130 per cent. In spite of the fact that Maryland has 3,300 white school teachers, 600 new ones are needed each year.

JURY TO VIEW SCENE OF MURDER

BY S. D. WEIER,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
MINGO COUNTY COURTHOUSE,
Williamson, W. V., Feb. 28.—Did a "tip-toe" signal unloose the bullet battle of Matewan?

The defense in the trigger trial revealed today that it will claim such a signal was given by Detective Albert Felts just before the first shot was fired.

James Anderson, twin brother of S. W. Anderson, the ex-army captain who testified last week, was on the stand when J. J. Conitt, in cross-examination, for the first time hinted in open court at this alleged signal, which is expected to loom big throughout the trial after the state rests its case at noon today.

The Anderson brothers are survivors of the gun fight. They, with three other Felts detectives, are charged with the murder of C. C. Testerman, mayor of Matewan, and two others. Both Andersons are decorated veterans of the great war.

The witness swore that Albert Felts fell on the first shot—that there was a pause after this shot until a volley followed—between 3:00 and 4:00 in all.

Anderson was grilled severely by Conitt, who made him go over and over the beginning of the bullet rain.

The jury, the 19 defendants, court and counsel will go to Matewan this afternoon to inspect the "battle fields." A late session will be held this evening at which the state will close its case.

TOWERMAN SAYS HE THREW SIGNAL

PORTER, Ind., Feb. 28.—In a statement to the International News Service, Joseph Cook, towerman in the tower from which signals were given to control the fatal crossing, declared that the New York Central train had the right of way and that the block was set to stop the Michigan Central flyer in vivid fashion he described how the crash occurred.

"Under normal conditions," he explained, "the blocks are set against all trains. The train hitting the buzzer first then is given the right of way. That is, the block which is set against them is released and the train is permitted to go on."

"That is exactly what happened when the buzzer sounded last night. It showed that the New York Central train was the first to hit the buzzer by almost a full minute ahead of the Michigan Central flyer."

"I released the block which permitted the New York Central train to go through. Just as the train hit the crossing I saw the Michigan Central train coming around the curve at sixty miles an hour. I saw right away what was going to happen and thought the tower would also be demolished. I called to Charlie Whitehead, the telegraph operator with me, and we made for the steps which lead to the ground."

"The Michigan Central train by this time had hit the derail which clearly showed that the block had been set against it and plowed over the ties and tracks, tearing them up as it went across the New York Central right of way, the New York Central train cut through it. Its locomotive toppled over and the coaches of both trains scattered in all directions."

"I cannot help but feel that the Michigan Central engineer was asleep for there are two blocks that are visible almost a mile and a half before he reaches the crossing."

GLADYS ZINE IS DIVORCED

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Judge Thompson, this morning granted a divorce to Gladys Zine, from Sam Zine. The parties live in Lorain, and divorce was granted on the ground of extreme cruelty. She was restored to her maiden name of Gladys Hoover.

Allies Unite In Refusing Germany Any Further Delay

PLANS PREPARED FOR MILITARY INVASION IF GERMANY BALKS ON MAKING FULL RESTRICTION—JOCKEYING TACTICS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED

By EARLE C. REEVES,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The allies are "all set" for the indemnity conference. As a result of the meeting on Sunday of the allied statesmen and military chiefs at Premier Lloyd George's country residence at Chequers the allies are ready to stand shoulder to shoulder against the Germans and will not grant any "considerable concessions," it was declared today.

When the conference opens on Wednesday the allies will be ready for any eventuality—even military action if the Germans balk at paying the sums demanded.

Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British imperial staff, were engaged today in drawing up a military report which will be submitted on Wednesday. Marshal Foch has furnished full details of plan for further armed intervention in Germany to enforce payment.

Fears were expressed in official circles over the fact that Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, comes as the only formal spokesman of the German government. It is believed that the German delegates will contend that all decisions rest with the German cabinet.

This would mean a repetition of the delays in the near east conference being submitted to Berlin for consideration by the ministry.

Both Premier Lloyd George and Premier Brand are opposed to any such "jockeying." They want swift and direct tactics so that the final decision can be cleared up at the earliest possible moment.

The Germans will be allowed to present their country proposals as to the time and methods of payment and the substitution of equivalents of equal value, such as gold and merchandise, but the allies are determined that the amount shall not be lessened.

The Evening News printed a despatch from Osend, containing an interview with Dr. Simons, who had arrived there on his way to London, in which the German foreign minister was quoted as saying:

"The German delegation earnestly wants reparations definitely settled. What we sign, the German government and the German people will carry out without threats or constraint. We hope that talk of penalties will be dropped."

POLICEMAN AT COLUMBUS SHOT BY BOOTLEGGER

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Police authorities throughout Ohio and adjoining states today are cooperating with Columbus officials in an effort to arrest "Pomp" Brooks, 26, colored bootlegger, who is accused of shooting to death Patrolman Jesse Reall here late Saturday night.

Brooks came here from Birmingham, Ala., four months ago. Reall's funeral is to be held tomorrow.

Trial of John Corper, negro bootlegger, charged with shooting to death City Detective Charles Tiller on October 25, starts today in common pleas court. It is expected that the court will recess tomorrow in order that witnesses may attend Reall's funeral.

NAB AMHERST WOMAN

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Anna Briggs of Amherst, Ohio, is lodged in the city jail charged with co-habitation.

CHAMP CLARK WITHSTANDS KNIFE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Champ Clark, former speaker of the house, who is seriously ill here is slightly improved today, his son, Bennett Clark, announced.

Mr. Clark underwent an operation late last night and the pleurisy which had been a considerable amount of fluid. He withstood the operation, his son stated, and appeared to rally following it.

The ex-speaker is suffering from a complication of diseases but the pleurisy which had set in had made his condition critical. It is hoped that the operation performed last night will relieve this condition.

A consultation of physicians will be held this morning.

TRAXLER RITES CONDUCTED TODAY

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Funeral services for J. T. Traxler were held this morning in St. Mary's church. Mr. Traxler's death occurred on Friday morning, following an attack of heart failure.

The funeral was one of the largest ever held in St. Mary's church and was attended by prominent men representing various fraternal and civic societies, and a large number of friends and relatives throughout this community.

Services were conducted by Rev. Fr. J. Johnston. Burial was made in Calvary cemetery.

The honorary pall bearers were J. A. Burgett, Thomas Hume, A. Helfrich, A. Raby, A. Abie, A. La Fleur, A. Lipp, the active pall bearers were F. Traxler, John Allen, Jacob Allen, Theodore Weber, P. Conrad and Joseph Weber.

Police Confuse Places

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—It was incorrectly reported in the Lorain Chronicle-Telegram on February 14 that the police had searched the soft drink place of R. P. Bills at 1223 Sixth street for liquor. Mr. Bills stated that he operates no soft drink place but the house number corresponds with his home. On the same day Mr. Bills reported to the police that milk had been stolen from his home and the police confused the two addresses in making out their daily reports.

MAN ARRESTED FOR GUN TOTING

Also Charged With Shooting With Intent to Wound When Shot Is Fired at Pedestrians

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Lorain police last night arrested John Kosik, 3142 Vine avenue, on a charge of shooting with intent to wound. He was arrested upon request of P. J. College, 3230 Norfolk avenue.

In his complaint against Kosik, College told Lorain police authorities that he was going east on 28th street last night in company with S. Stukes, 3230 Norfolk avenue. John Flor, 3126 Clinton street and Mike Circle, 602 East 32nd street. College says that Kosik drew a revolver and fired one shot at him. He says the man then fled.

The four men followed the man and girl and saw them enter a rooming house at 3142 Vine avenue. College called Police Lieutenant Frank Bark, who made the arrest of the alleged gun man.

BREAD PRICE CUT FORESEEN

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—The local fight for local bread is daily gaining noticeable headway. Numerous most local dealers have voiced a determination to back up local bakers.

A meeting of wholesale and retail bakers, grocers, meat markets and delicatessen stores held at the chamber of commerce proved that the sentiment was largely in favor of Lorain made bread.

It was learned that Cleveland bakers have reduced their wholesale price rate to 11c per loaf and that in Elyria this wholesale price was met by the bakers of that city. It is believed that a like arrangement will be readily made in Lorain.

This, it is thought will bring the price of bread down to 12c per loaf or two loaves for 25c.

The best of feeling prevailed among the dealers and several very interesting discussions resulted. It was agreed that Lorain bread pleased patrons as well as Cleveland bread and that the average bread buyer seldom asks for any special make. The meeting was addressed by the secretary of the Cleveland Bakers organization who answered questions which served to enlighten those present as to many vital points in the controversy. It is thought that because of the several meetings held at the chamber of commerce by the retailers of bread that a Bureau of the Retailers division of the chamber of commerce will be organized consisting of grocers, meat dealers and delicatessen store operators. Another meeting for the further discussion of the bread situation will be called soon.

SINN FEINERS HURT IN FIGHT

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Two Sinn Feiners were wounded when a detachment of 15 British policemen was ambushed near Mullingar, Ireland, this morning. There were 59 men in the attacking party. They fired upon the police from the roadside and the latter returned the fire, wounding two of the republicans.

Advices from Dublin this afternoon said the police suffered no casualties.

Fined $25 for Driving Auto While Intoxicated

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—Gus Ineson was fined $25 and costs by Judge Harding in municipal court this morning on a plea of guilty for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Patrolman Roe.

CHARGE INTOXICATION

LORAIN, Feb. 28.—John Maz and August Mienke were arrested last night charged with intoxication.

NEARLY 100 HURT AS TRAINS CRASH AT "DEATH TRAP"

NEW YORK CENTRAL AND MICHIGAN CENTRAL FLIER IN SMASH-UP AT PORTER, IND.—MOST OF VICTIMS IN WOODEN COACHES—GOVERNMENT TO PROBE DISASTER

PORTER, Ind., Feb. 28.—Forty-two known dead at noon marked the tragic toll of the New York Central Michigan Central rail horror here. It seems certain that the death list would be swelled as rescue parties continued their search under the grim monument of wreckage which marks the scene of last night's crash of the Michigan Central "Canadian" and the New York Central's "Interstate Limited."

Thirty-six of the bodies were in the improvised morgue at Chesterton, a mile from here and three in Michigan City, Ind., when just before noon, the three other bodies were found. At this hour the number of injured was placed at close to one hundred. It was considered remarkable that those of the injured who did not die within an hour or two were but slightly hurt.

PORTER, Ind., Feb. 28.—Four more dead found buried at 9 o'clock this morning under the grim monument of wreckage which marks the scene of the rail horror here, brought the total known killed to 38.

The four were found crushed under a litter of twisted steel near the huge New York Central engine and it is believed the locomotive after tearing through the Michigan Central train, dragged the bodies with it. It is believed that eight or ten more bodies still remain buried in the wreckage. The number of injured was placed this morning at 100.

L. W. Keeler, superintendent of schools at Michigan City, Ind., listed among the dead in an early casualty list was not even injured in the crash.

The following statement was given out by the general superintendent of the New York Central Lines:

"It seems certain that the Michigan Central train had taken the derail and that the engine miraculously jumped back on the track again just as the New York Central train crashed into it. Officials from Chicago and New York are enroute here. It will be a joint investigation and a thorough one. It is impossible to place the blame now. Calling a man guilty of such a thing means calling him guilty of murder."

Investigate Crash

The wreck occurred when a New York Central flyer crashed into the Canadian Limited of the Michigan Central Limited. The Canadian Limited left Chicago at 6 o'clock last night. The New York Central train known as the Interstate Limited, was bound for Chicago from Boston. The crash occurred about 6:20 o'clock last night.

A thorough investigation of the catastrophe was launched by officials of both roads to determine responsibility. The towerman at the intersection of the two roads claims that the Michigan Central train ran past two block signals that had been set against it.

There is a diamond intersection of the two roads here. The Michigan Central flyer had half way across the intersecting tracks when the New York Central Limited plowed through a wooden derrick, smashing it to kindling and hurling bodies of the killed and maimed on both sides of the right of way.

Dead Tot Held Cautious

The scene of desolation and death which followed crash was filled with numerous dramatic incidents. There was Father Devilly, chaplain in the late war, who crawled amid the smoking debris to administer the last sacrament to the dying.

There was little 9-year old Pearl Gavenach whose lifeless body was held in her tiny hand a bar of candy apparently just purchased.

A majority of the victims were residents of Michigan City. Porter has no physician and but few residents. Those available rushed to the scene with axes, picks and shovels and started preliminary rescue work, together with passengers from the two trains who escaped injury.

The crash was heard for miles and soon there began pouring from the surrounding countryside farmers and their wives and daughters also there came two physicians from Chesterton, a mile away.

While women tore up their skirts to make bandages for the injured, then helped them to the homes of residents, where they were put to bed, the bodies were removed first to the town hall here and then to undertakers rooms in Chesterton where an improvised morgue was set up. The bodies were placed on the floor on tables and in chairs while six embalmers worked feverishly to prepare them for inquest today. Some were so mutilated as to render identification almost impossible. Four relief trains arrived here during the night from Chicago, Elkhart and Michigan City.

DECLARATION OF KOREAN INDEPENDENCE WILL BE OBSERVED TODAY

(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The second anniversary of the declaration of independence of Korea will be celebrated at the New York City Town Hall on March 2. The program will include addresses by former Senator William E. Mason, of Illinois, former Governor-General Newton Whiting Gilbert, of the Philippines, and Dr. Philip Jansolin, former adviser of the Emperor of Korea.

On March 1, 1910, the Korean people, opposed to the continuance of Japanese rule in Korea, declared Korea's independence of the Japanese, and an organization to work for Korea's freedom was formed with branches in the Korean colonies in the leading cities of the United States and Europe. The Korean independence committee in New York states that almost all the Koreans in America are affiliated with this organization. It is under the auspices of this organization that the celebration of the Korean Fourth of July will be held on March 2.

PENFIELD

PENFIELD, Feb. 28.—W. B. Welsh is ill from the flu and is under the doctor's care. He is improving.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Congregational church took in $44.65 at the James Nott sale. The Ladies' Aid society of the E. church took in $69.18 at their bazaar and apron sale, Friday evening. The attendance was good and they certainly did fine. Frank Zeltic is working for Mr. Wilbur Starr and he and his wife are occupying the Starr tenant house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Minkler and family are moving onto the Will Blanchard farm west of Wellington, which his father, Elmer Minkler, of Lorain, has recently purchased.

Elmer Minkler and family of Lorain are moving onto his son's farm in Penfield. Father and son's shoes also were found with the sheep simply exchanged farms, clothing.

FORCE AS LARGE AS ARMY NEEDED TO STOP SMUGGLING LIQUOR INTO UNITED STATES

Closing Bonded Warehouses Only Brings Greater Flood of Whiskey Across Borders of This Country, Enforcement Agents Admit—Millions of Gallons of Liquors and Wines Are Finding Their Way Into the Country

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Let us shut the whiskey warehouses. That's the answer of the "wet" boys, the kind-puns of the bootleggers.

You don't need to go far from your own backyard to hear that answer. It's a familiar one here, there, and everywhere.

The "wet boys" as they are termed on the street curb or in the clubs, wherever "booze talk" is heard, now place their chief reliance upon the inability of the government enforcement machine to cope with smuggling.

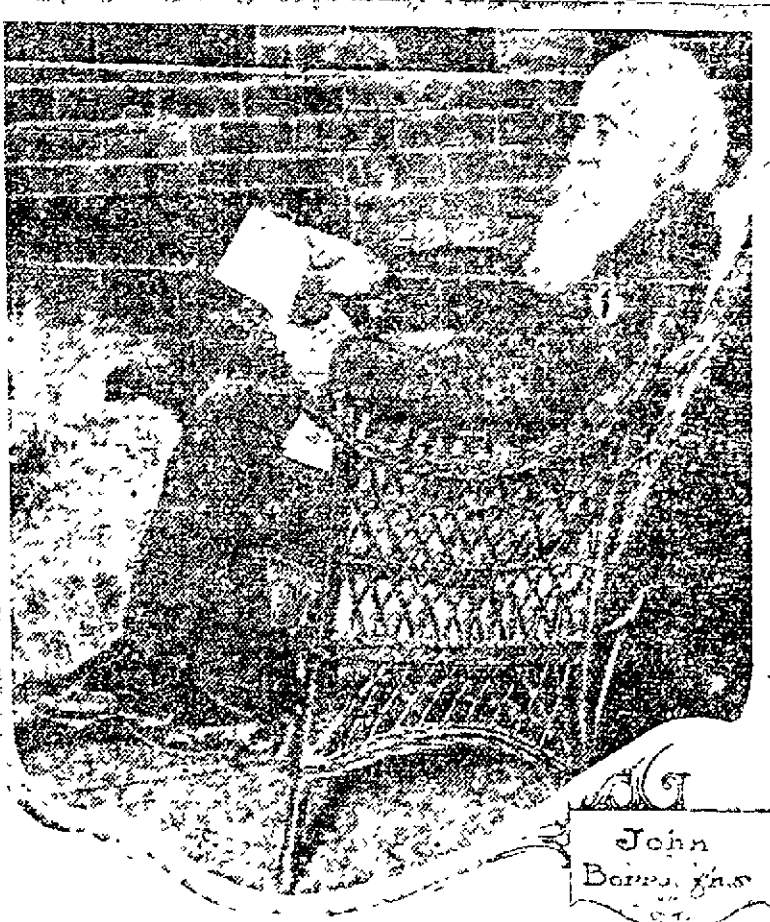

Smugglers are bringing in millions of gallons of whiskey, wines and other choice liquors. And they are doing it with ease. They are doing it with the full knowledge of the government. And the government's enforcement branch is utterly impotent in the face of it.

Commissioner Kramer and his chief assistants readily admit that smuggling is now the chief obstacle to prohibition success. The domestic supply can be entirely cut off, they say, but if smuggling at the present rate continues there will be whiskey in abundance for years to come.

Stop it? How are we going to do it? Kramer is quick to ask. "One dry agent to every hundred thousand people, and most of these concentrated in the big cities," Kramer says.

The borders and coasts are virtually unprotected against whiskey runners. It will be so for some time unless congress votes enough money to hire a force as large as the United States army. And congress won't do that for some time to come.

FAMOUS NATURALIST WILL SOON CELEBRATE HIS 84TH BIRTHDAY

(International News Service.)
PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 28.—Observations on the psychology of old age. Mr. Burroughs will be 84 on April 3.

The great naturalist says he is "taking things in an easy way," for he feels he has about completed his life's work. His mind is as keen and alert as ever, but he complains that he tires quickly after long mental applications.

six hours of work until recently. He said, "Now I can't do much more than two hours at a stretch."

His latest published work, "Accounting the Universe," does not show any lessening of Mr. Burroughs' vigorous powers, for in it he discusses many phases of nature and human life.

Mr. Burroughs has a kindly face, a pleasant well modulated voice and speaks with deliberation. His hearing is excellent and he readily answers to a voice spoken in a low tone even on another side of the room from him.

Religion is Spiritual Flowering
Some of his opinions on religion follow:

"I am persuaded that a man without religion falls short of the proper human ideal. Religion, as I use the term, is a spiritual flowering, and the never blooms.

"The religion of a man that has no other aim than his own personal safety from some real or imaginary future calamity is of the selfish, ignoble kind."

"Amid the decay of creeds love of nature has high religious value. This has saved many persons in this world—saved them from man-mon-worship and from the triviality and sincerity of the crowd."

"Notwithstanding the fact that cold and suffering, war and pestilence, cyclones and earthquakes, still occur, upon the relatively tiny ball that carries us through the vast sidereal spaces, good is greatly in the ascendency. The voyage is not all calm and sunshine, but it is safe, and the dangers from collision and shipwreck are very remote."

"The fact that flowers bloom and fruit and rains ripen, that the sun shines, that the rain falls, that food nourishes us, that evolution has brought us thus far on our way that our life of decent has survived all the hazards of the geologic ages, all point to the fact that we are on the winning side, that our well-being is secured in the constitution of things."

Cred for Right Living.
What might be termed a creed for right living is expressed by Mr. Burroughs in this way: "Do your work, deal justly, love righteousness, make the most of yourself, cherish the good, the beautiful, the true, practice the Christian and the heathen virtues of sobriety, meekness, reverence, charity, unselfishness, justice, mercy, singleness of purpose, obey the commandments, the Golden Rule, imbue your spirit with the wisdom of all ages, for this is the moral order of the world, upheld."

Mr. Burroughs' home is at West Park, N. J. One of the familiar spots to visitors there is the naturalist's woodpile, where he spends many happy hours keeping in fine physical trim and reflecting on the world as it drifts by him.

STARTLING "REALISM"
BY FRENCH PAINTERS

(International News Service.)
PARIS, Feb. 28.—"Realism" is the dominating note at the recently opened exhibition of French "Independent" painters, and represents the youngest school of modern French art.

Obscurities and the operating theatre are the themes of some of the most remarkable paintings.

The picture of the show is a large canvas entitled "The Plague," and representing with revolting fidelity to grim detail dozens of dying people.

Thin-Blooded People Should Strengthen the Blood With a Good Tonic to Keep Off Contagious Disease.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN

If You Tire Easily and Feel Run Down, Your Blood Needs More Red Corpuscles. Watch Your Blood Condition Now.

It is thin-blooded, anemic people that disease strikes first. In any of the disease germs that so often become epidemic catch you in a run-down condition, they are able to take hold and the first thing you know you are ill. But if you are in good condition, your blood is vigorous and red, your system is able to throw off the effects of germs that are so prevalent when an epidemic breaks out.

Make up your mind to this fact—you are either well or you are not well. And the common-sense thing to do is to be on the safe side. If you are in doubt, take that wonderful blood tonic, Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It makes blood rich and red. It increases the number of red corpuscles, and your system is better able to fight the ravages of epidemics.

Watch your children. If they are pale and wan and thin-blooded, give them Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid tablet form and is sold by druggists everywhere. The liquid and tablets have exactly the same medicinal value. Buy whichever you prefer, and be sure it is genuine "Gude's Pepto-Mangan." The name "Gude's" is on the package.—Advt. 2-28, 3-28

AUDER GIVES RECIPE FOR HEALTH

Scotch Comedian Believes in Working Hard in Open Air, Moderation and Wee Drop of Whiskey

(By International News Service) LONDON, Feb. 28.—Work hard in the open air; be moderate in all things and occasionally take a wee drop of whiskey, just to keep out the cold. That is the recipe for keeping young and fit as given here today by Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scotch comedian, who is known to his countrymen throughout the whole world.

The knight-comedian is typically Scotch in all things, and this was emphasized in his remarks upon American prohibition.

"I managed to get more than one drop of whisky in the United States in spite of prohibition," said Sir Harry. "No use telling lies; you can get anything in the States by paying for it. But it spoils the enjoyment to have to pay $25 a bottle for Scotch. Five pounds—just think of it." And, although the comedian was talking of Scotch he made a wry face.

Sir Harry is enthusiastic over real estate as a means of investing money. "I have got 14,000 acres in Argyleshire," he said, "and 10,000 sheep. All the money I have ever made upon the stage I have put in land. It is a solid investment and yields both profit and pleasure."

Sir Harry was dressed in a Glen-garry, a kilt of McLeod tartan, and smoked the inevitable pipe. He was in the pink of health, and his recipe for keeping fit was his reply to congratulations upon his excellent condition.

Sir Harry said he had toured the whole of the British Empire and the United States, but of all the countries he has visited he likes New Zealand next to Scotland, because it is the most like Scotland.

NAVAL AVIATORS KILLED IN FALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Eugene L. Lindsey, 24, whose home is at 44 Floyd street, San Francisco, and Harold P. Stevens, 26, of Rockaway, N. Y., both attached to the naval air station at Rockaway Point, New York, were instantly killed late today when their airplane crashed to earth at the flying field.

The aviators were almost instantly killed when their flying boat crashed to the ground near a hangar. Lieutenant Stevens, the pilot, was banking for a turn at 800 feet elevation when the machine went into a tail spin. Stevens leaves a wife.

Lindsey, a chief machinist's mate, and Stevens took the boat out for a routine flight. The flying boat is believed to have struck an air pocket.

CAMPAIGN WILL COVER THE STATE

Nearly Five Thousand Ministers Will Meet to Make Plans for State Wide Campaign—Many Prominent Speakers Will be Heard

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Preparatory to a statewide campaign of evangelism to be carried out this spring, Ohio ministers will meet in interdenominational convention here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, it was announced tonight.

Plans for the meeting are being arranged by the Ohio federation of churches, which has invited 4,700 pastors from all parts of the state. Attending ministers will come as delegates from their respective congregations.

Addresses on various phases of evangelism will be made by church leaders from Ohio and other states in a program opening Tuesday afternoon and extending to Thursday noon. Sessions will be held at the First Congregational church.

The opening session Tuesday afternoon, Rev. F. Q. Blanchard, Euclid avenue Congregational church, Cleveland, will speak on "The Evangelism of Jesus in the Modern World." Rev. B. F. Lamb, secretary of the Ohio federation of churches, on "The Rural Church Situation in Ohio," and President J. Knox Montgomery, of Muskingum College, New Concord, on "Organizing the county for co-operative evangelism."

Tuesday evening's address will include "Educational evangelism," by President Walter G. Clippinger of Otterbein College, Westerville, "Religious Education," by Rev. Gavary Neeld, director of religion of Ohio State University, Columbus, and "What is the matter with the world," by Bishop William P. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal church, Cincinnati.

Group Meeting Wednesday
Separate group meetings of ministers of the various denominations are scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Wednesday afternoon's session will open with an address on "Organizing the church for personal evangelism," by Rev. John L. Fort, Methodist Episcopal pastor of Louisville, Ky., who is author of the "unit system" of church organization used in his denomination. Other speakers at this session will be:

Rev. F. L. Fahey, Executive secretary of the Congregational evangelist commission, New York on "Using the material at hand for evangelistic work," and Rev. Jesse M. Bader, secretary of the evangelistic commission of the Diocese of Ohio, on "The 'unit system' of church organization used in his denomination. Other speakers at this session will be:

Dr. Taylor is scheduled for another address Thursday morning, on "Ability and responsibility." Other addresses at the closing session will be: "The old church in the new day," by Rev. Moses Breeze Columbus, secretary of the Presbyterian ministry's forward movement, and "The community program of the church," by Rev. Oliver C. Weist, pastor of Grandview community church, Columbus.

Presiding officers who will have charge of the various sessions include: Rev. Robert E. Pugh, Columbus; Rev. P. W. Luca, Cleveland; Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati business man, and Rev. I. J. Capill of Cleveland.

LOCAL COMPANY HAS SQUEEZED WATER FROM CAPITAL STOCK

Elyria stockholders in the International I. T. S. Rubber company will be pleased to learn that the directors of the company have decided to retire $600,000 worth of the common stock, leaving only a similar amount of preferred stock outstanding.

Five of the eight directors of the company are now residents of this city and President Frank J. Scholl, of Chicago, is the only one of town official connected with the company, with the exception of Harry Swarzenschild of New York, who is one of the directors.

By eliminating the common stock generally given away to promoting the sale of the preferred stock, the company has squeezed the water out of its securities and the preferred stock really represents double the value it did before the common stock was removed from the market.

The International I. T. S. Company is now operating in France and in then ear future expects to extend its field throughout Europe, according to President F. J. Scholl who came here from France to attend the directors' meeting conducted in this city.

Big Output
The French factory is now turning out 3,000 pair of heels per day and recently the company secured a contract to furnish a german company with 1,000,000 heels this year.

The I. T. S. company of this city disposed of over 40,000,000 pair of heels during the year 1920, so far a new concern the International company is doing pretty well.

The new officers and directors of the International I. T. S. Rubber company are Frank J. Scholl, president, A. B. Taylor, vice president, Carl H. Ingwer, secretary, J. W. Schmauch, treasurer and Harry Swarzenschild, Gus F. Smith, John G. Tuftord and G. H. Lewis.

MARINES WHO WRECKED NEWSPAPER SENTENCED
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Twenty-one marines who wrecked the plant of the newspaper "La Tribuna" at Managua, Nicaragua, several weeks ago, have been tried by court martial and sentenced to five years in prison and dishonorable discharge from the service, the navy department announced this afternoon.

The proceedings of the general court martial have been approved by Rear Admiral Henry F. Bryan, commanding the special service squadron in Latin American waters, but the sentence was commuted to two years confinement, upon the court's recommendation that clemency be shown.

POTATO DISEASES ATTACK CROP IN THREE WAYS
Seeking to aid farmers in combatting many of the diseases that attacked the potato crop, the department of botany at the Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster, has for distribution a bulletin known as "Potato Diseases." It is sent free to residents of Ohio.

Many diseases are recognized that may attack the plant through the tubers, vines or soil, any one of which is capable of destroying the entire crop.

New diseases appear from year to year and the accumulative effect has been to reduce the potato acreage almost 40 per cent during the past few years.

CHALLENGES ACCEPTED

Warren G. Harding accepted a challenge when he announced that Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, O., will be appointed attorney general of the United States. When Mr. Daugherty said, without slightest hesitation, that he is willing to assume the large responsibilities of the office, he also picked up the gauntlet.

For months Mr. Daugherty has been a target, first on account of his aggressive fight to bring about the nomination of Mr. Harding and next because of campaign politics. Since his appointment to the attorney generalship was forecast, his professional and political records have been subject to virulent and violent criticism. Some of it came gratuitously and profusely from members of his own political party, but the poisoned waters have been traced to Democratic sources in the east. The tentative selection of Mr. Daugherty was opposed bitterly by the New York World and the New York Evening Post, both supporters of James M. Cox. The Post is the anemic first or second cousin of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

It is current history that Mr. Harding and Mr. Daugherty have been on terms of personal intimacy and political alliance since their first chance meeting in a country hotel twenty years ago when both spoke at the same political meeting. Harding then was a candidate for state senator. Since that time, he has filled offices of state senator, lieutenant governor of Ohio and United States senator. Throughout his political and official career his loyalty and devotion to those who have been something more to him than fair weather friends have been predominant and characteristic.

Therefore, if Senator Harding ever had any doubt about the attorney generalship, it may be assumed that the criticism to which Daugherty was subjected, served only to clinch the decision, to hasten the acceptance of the challenge.

And since the president-elect has chosen Mr. Daugherty from a phalanx of learned Republican lawyers of unquestioned party fealty, the appointment of the man from Mr. Harding's home state will be attributed chiefly to personal and political considerations.

"Under the circumstances," as one Washington correspondent writes, "Mr. Daugherty must either shine a success or retire wholly discredited, for the spot light has picked him out."

COLBY IS RIGHT

"The great barrier to American progress abroad is language," Secretary of State Colby said in Philadelphia, addressing the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Secretary Colby was discussing his recent South American trip and explaining how North American exporters can profit by his experience and observations. He declared: "We never can bring our relations to the people of Latin-America to the point of intimacy, confidence and respect until we realize that we must find the right psychological approach to Latin America."

Although he has said nothing new, Secretary Colby is quite right. Every trained observer who studies South American conditions at close range arrives quickly at the same conclusion. But the advice, coming as it does from the ranking cabinet member, gets much wider publicity and doubtless will carry greater conviction than it would from the lips or pen of almost any other citizen.

The branch managers and salesmen of English, French, Japanese and German exporters to South America learn the languages—Portuguese in Brazil and Spanish in all other Latin-American countries—and speak with almost native fluency. They do more; they study in infinite detail the "costumbres del pais"—the customs of the country, thus qualifying for proper observance of business ethics and social amenities which bear a much closer relationship in South America than they do in North America. The salesmen from other countries thus possess a very distinct advantage over many Americans who speak only English and attempt business transactions solely and awkwardly through interpreters, thus often failing to carry a conviction in argument even if they escape giving offense by gauche-erie in speech or deportment.

COPPERHEADS STILL

From the national headquarters of the American Legion comes a warning that German propaganda is being employed in this country for the purpose of creating "a powerful political machine by the amalgamation of the disloyal elements in our population."

Though the Germans may have started this propaganda it has largely passed out of their hands. The enemies of American institutions, whether of native or alien birth, are now in control. They edit daily newspapers and weekly and monthly periodicals, all in the

ALL A MATTER OF HABIT

An Automatic Heart
On the Hot Iron
The Word of a Friend
Plenty of Good
Habits

An Editorial On Buying

Man is a creature of habit.

Some of his habits are good and some of them are bad. Most of them are good, because the human animal is so delicate an organism that there has to be a republican majority of good habits to keep him going.

In fact, good habits are not only an economy of effort—making it possible to accomplish more with less attention and less effort to the will—they are also the fundamental presuppositions that make life at all possible.

The heart was a good habit of jumping blood without your having to think about it.

The lungs have a good habit of supplying the system with oxygen.

The nerves have a good habit of sending instantaneous messages to the brain about what is happening to you.

The nerves have such good habits that when they send the message to your brain that your hand has touched something too hot they do not wait for the General Staff in your head to call a conference of your numerous impulses and inhibitions to determine whether or not to remove the hand from the hot object. Your nerves have a habit of sending back a message about what to do right away.

The same thing holds true of affairs on a higher plane.

A man keeps his contracts, pays his bills, supports his family, votes and goes through all the ordinary actions of life as a citizen and civilized human being because he has these good habits, and he leads a good life when he has these good habits.

A man buys largely as a matter of habit.

He buys at a place he likes because he is well treated and he finds the values satisfactory. More likely than not the word of a friend, or a printed word of a friendly advertisement got him there to begin with.

And the store where he buys lets him know about any special sales or stock's pleasantly and effectively, because they have the habit of telling him about it, et cetera through their advertising, and he has the habit of knowing what they say because he has the habit of reading advertisements with interest and confidence.

The American people are a friendly, good-natured race. While they have enough bad habits, we also can look ourselves over impartially and see that we have some good ones.

Pre-eminently characteristic of us is our habitual interest in and appreciation of advertising.

We know that this interest is a good habit because we know what it can do and has done for every one of us.

Advertising itself is a good habit.

In fact, advertising and reading advertisements are two of the best American habits.

REYNOLDS, Feb. 28.—Four grades, including 140 pupils, of the east wing, Union school building, have started their remodeling, making way for workmen remodeling and enlarging the building into a $600,000 high school building. The work is to be completed next year.

English language. They belong to organizations at whose meetings the only tongue heard is the common tongue of the nation. They have wealth made in America, they have position, many of them, in American "society."

The ruling idea in these groups is that nothing American is right. And since Britain and France were comrades in the war, nothing English or French is right. They have exulted over seeming differences between England and France because that tended to weaken our own relations with the two countries. They did not wait until Germany had officially declined to agree to make the reparations demanded of her. They insisted, in advance, that indemnities were outrageous things, born of greed and the spirit of vengeance. But back of all this was the aim to hamstring American government and promote dissension in America and open the way to political experiments after the Russian pattern.

The copperhead elements of the war will remain copperheads. They work in the open now, where, during the struggle at arms, they labored in secret. For the time they seem to be interested only in the woes of Germany. But in their hearts is hate, dislike, contempt for everything American. This is the spirit which moves them to speech.

MINE CLAIM WORTH MILLIONS WAS BOUGHT FOR 50 CENTS

Old Whale Mining Claim Near Idaho Springs, Colorado, Was Sold for Unpaid Taxes for a Half-Dollar and Proved to be a Bonanza.

By M. T. DACEY, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

IDaho Springs, Colo., Feb. 28.—The story of how a mining claim, originally purchased for fifty cents at a tax sale, was later sold for $200,000, and has already yielded several million dollars' worth of ore, was told here by Nathan S. Hurd, pioneer mining man.

Hurd, who is 88 years old, made and lost several fortunes in Colorado mining industries. He is now retired and lives in Denver.

The story is of the "Old Whale" mine, located just outside of Idaho Springs, and the first chapter was written in the early 90's when adventurous young men, under the aegis of prospective fortunes to be wrested from the veins of the Rockies, crossed the plains on ox teams, on horseback and on foot.

"In 1890 I left Denver with a push of the newly discovered gold fields at Spanish Bar, about two miles from where Idaho Springs is now situated," Hurd said. "There I met Col. John H. Dumont, a prominent mining man in this state."

It was customary in those days, when we made our own laws, to form mining districts whenever a rush occurred. The first person reaching the camp after the original discovery could stake off 30-foot claims adjoining the original claim. The next could procure additional claims, and so on.

When the camp grew, and it did grow, it was necessary to support some kind of government, these claims were taxed. Of course, many of these would prove to be valueless and their original claimants would abandon them to be sold for taxes.

Sold for Taxes
"It was at such a sale held in the rear of an old shack that I bought the claim that later became a part of the 'Old Whale' mine."

The owner had abandoned it, believing that it was too far from the original strike to contain pay ore, offered a half dollar. The bid was Nobody would bid on it, so I finally raised, so the claim was knocked down to me for fifty cents.

A few months after I did some work on the claim during my spare time and uncovered what appeared to be paying traces of ore. Colonel Dumont looked the claim over and offered me $1,200 for it, which I was glad to accept.

Colonel Dumont developed the claim, found rich ore, bought some adjoining ground and a few years later sold the whole business for $250,000.

"Think of it!" Hurd exclaimed. "Two hundred thousand dollars for a claim that I paid fifty cents for."

"But that's not all," he concluded. "Since that time $2,000,000 worth of ore has been taken from the Old Whale mine, and offers for several million dollars for it have been refused."

Hurd declared that similar sales and discoveries were not uncommon in the early days in the mining state.

DWARF ESSEX RAPE SUPERIOR TO MIXTURES OF FORAGES FOR PIGS

To supply forage for pigs throughout the growing season, Dwarf Essex rape grown alone has been found to be most suitable, according to tests made at the Ohio Experimental Station, because it produces new growth after being pastured down.

Mixtures of forages, such as field peas and oats, field peas and rape are not so satisfactory, because the rape in such plots makes scanty growth, it being shaded by the peas or oats.

Compared with combinations of rape and oats or rape and soybeans, rape alone proved superior. As a forage for fattening pigs rape is slightly superior to rape, but cannot always be pastured throughout the entire season.

Bluceras is a good pasture for early spring and late fall, but after jointing or heading out it becomes woody and fibrous, so that it is of little worth for pigs.

DAYTON, Feb. 28.—Police Judge W. A. Budros has announced that he will wage war on auto thieves. First arrest, $10 and costs; second arrest, $25 fine and license revoked for 30 days, third offense, permanent revocation of license.

English language. They belong to organizations at whose meetings the only tongue heard is the common tongue of the nation. They have wealth made in America, they have position, many of them, in American "society."

The ruling idea in these groups is that nothing American is right. And since Britain and France were comrades in the war, nothing English or French is right. They have exulted over seeming differences between England and France because that tended to weaken our own relations with the two countries. They did not wait until Germany had officially declined to agree to make the reparations demanded of her. They insisted, in advance, that indemnities were outrageous things, born of greed and the spirit of vengeance. But back of all this was the aim to hamstring American government and promote dissension in America and open the way to political experiments after the Russian pattern.

The copperhead elements of the war will remain copperheads. They work in the open now, where, during the struggle at arms, they labored in secret. For the time they seem to be interested only in the woes of Germany. But in their hearts is hate, dislike, contempt for everything American. This is the spirit which moves them to speech.

MOSCOW RIOT BRINGS DEATH AND DISORDER

By FRANK MASON, International News Service.

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—A strike of serious proportions has been declared at Moscow, shooting has occurred and several persons have been killed and all communists in the city have been mobilized, while soviet government buildings are under heavy guard, according to despatches received here from the British Telegram Agency at Riga.

Fourteen thousand Moscow workmen joined the strike, the despatch stated, the move being started by government officers who demanded an increased bread ration, the right to "freedom of the trade" restoration of their civil rights and convocation of a constituent assembly.

Startling peacefully the demand that the government begin, shots were fired, and a number were killed and wounded, when red guards were ordered to disperse the agitators.

It is reported the strike is spreading and that the soldiers are joining the movement.

NURSERY STOCK HIGH FOR ORCHARD PLANTING

That the planting of extensive orchards in Ohio will probably be delayed for several years because of the high price of nursery stock, is pointed out by W. J. Green, horticulturist of the Ohio Experiment Station.

"Practically all seedlings for the production of nursery stock come from France," states Professor Green. "Because of their hardiness, the French varieties are regarded as being superior for growing seedlings than those produced in America. After the seedlings are shipped to the United States they are stratified or budded to the various grades desired."

"During the war the production of seedling apple whips almost ceased and it will require several years to again come into full production. Until this time the prices of nursery stock in the United States will probably remain high enough to influence people to wait several years before extensive orchard planting is begun."

FAMOUS SHIP TAKEN OUT OF SERVICE

Alaskan Cutter "Bear" Passes from Active Service and Will Be Used as Training Ship for Naval Cadets

(International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 28.—Doomed to soon become a make-believe, a toy ship, instead of again resuming her forays to Alaskan waters, the famed old cutter, Bear, is now pulling and straining at her anchor off Sausalito in protest to the day when she will be removed to San Diego, where she will be converted into a mere training ship for cadets in the U. S. Navy's sea fighting forces. In former days the Bear was used in Alaskan waters to foust with smugglers to protect seal fisheries, rescue shipwrecked mariners and in many other ways was a real red-blooded resident of the sea.

The Bear has been in service for thirty-five years and its log carries thousands of thrilling stories of life on the northland and the Great White Way from Point Barrow to points south, west and east. The Bear was first drafted into use with the one-time United States Revenue Cutter service in 1885. For 35 consecutive summers the Bear made trips from Seattle, where it was stationed, into the Behring Sea, braving all kinds of ice floes and gales.

It was the Bear with her sister ship the Thetis, which rescued the seven Greely expedition survivors June 22, 1934. The Bear saw the time when lawlessness was the rule and at the cutter service did much to exterminate piracy and robbery on the high seas.

The Bear did not always carry the American flag. She was launched at Greenock, Scotland, in 1874 and flew the British flag until 1885, when purchased by the United States government.

26 BLACK AND TAN POLICE KILLED

Two Engagements Are Fought in Which Large Army Opposes Crown Forces—Have Narrow Escape

BY DANIEL O'CONNELL, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, Feb. 28.—An unconfirmed report was current here today that 26 black and tan policemen were killed in the violent Dublin Castle has not yet issued an official statement on casualties. Late advice from the field of battle reveal that two engagements were fought and that a large detachment of crown forces had a narrow escape from capture due to the superior knowledge of the district by the Sinn Feiners.

The second action developed while reinforcements of soldiers and police were being rushed up to the vicinity of Ballyvourney, where the first engagement occurred.

The reinforcements were delayed in an effort to block the retreat of the republicans. This resulted in a two-hour running fight amidst the treacherous bogs that that section of the country. By evening the combatants had worked nearly to Mill st.

Daughter of Senator Lenroot in Child Welfare Service

Princeton University is increasing its tuition charge from $250 to $300 a year, the change going into effect with the opening of the new academic year. According to a survey, it is figured that it costs the institution $500 annually to educate one of its students.

Almost immediately after 100 diplomas were awarded to pupils who recently completed the course of study in the Philadelphia Normal school the graduates were added to the teaching force of that city.

Girls of the Polytechnic High School in Los Angeles, have organized a military company under the direction of a woman physical training instructor.

Miss Katherine F. Lenroot, the daughter of Senator Irving L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, photographed in Dorchester, Mass., where she was a guest in the Dorchester court studying juvenile cases and the social service system of the probation officers. Miss Lenroot is connected with the children's bureau of the U. S. department of labor.

A million-dollar gift was acquired in Valparaiso, Ind., when Henry K. Brown, former president of Valparaiso University, recently presented complete ownership of the institution, grounds, buildings and equipment to them, in the name of the Brown family.

EVANGELIST ATTRACTS BIG CROWD ON SUNDAY AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—A large and eager audience not only filled the auditorium and Sunday School room of the Church of Christ last evening, but overflowed to the balcony to hear Evangelist M. E. Chatley.

Mr. Chatley said the church was composed of 20 per cent workers, 50 per cent jokers and the 30 per cent shirkers; that 20 per cent are up and going, 50 per cent are going to get up and go, and 30 per cent have got up and are gone, but he expressed the hope that Elyria will be 100 per cent workers, without the jokers and shirkers.

"Some say the lodge is all the church we need," Mr. Chatley's refutation of this statement was effective and complete. He spoke not a word of the lodge, but as an active enthusiastic lodge man. He said, "I have traveled the road to Jericho, and fell among the robbers, and I am a master Mason. I have had fellowship with our Mohammedan friends and have traveled across the hot desert sands and today I hold a very important office in the Knight Templars in my home town. The lodge is doing a most merited work for civilization, but to say that it is the church or can take the place of the church is to slander our lodge."

Mr. Chatley has a most pleasing appearance and from the first easily held his audience.

His subject for this evening will be "The Ghost in the Haunted House." Much interest was expressed in the subject announced, and from all indications an unusually large Monday night audience is expected.

From the first note, Mr. Harry Swan, song leader for these meetings, had complete mastery of the music situation and the entire audience responded with enthusiasm and spirit to his leadership. He will conduct a 15-minute song service each evening beginning at 7:30.

REV. DR. SCULLEN TO ADDRESS MENS RETREAT

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—The Men's Retreat will be held in St. Mary's church under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, beginning next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock and ending Sunday morning, March 13. The Knights of Columbus are very fortunate in having secured for their principal speaker, Rev. Dr. Scullen of Cleveland, Ohio, administrator of the diocese, who will be present at all the meetings. It will be dedicated that Rev. Dr. Scullen recently succeeded the late Bishop Farrelly.

FINE FOX FUR IS ON DISPLAY

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Mrs. L. F. Smith of 219 Third street is in possession of a most beautiful red fox fur of unusual quality, which is attracting much attention. The animal was shot by Mr. Smith in Trumbull county and the skin was made into this most attractive neck piece by J. M. Robinson of the fur department of the John Lersch company in whose windows it is displayed.

Five hundred physicians were present and welcomed this unusually comprehensive institution for the diagnosis and treatment of the sick and for medical research as well. Cleveland clinic is on Euclid avenue at 93d street.

Dorothy's Diary

February 28.—I wish mother wouldn't worry so. She's fretting because it costs so much more to live here in the city than it did back home. When she mentioned the matter tonight, I couldn't help smiling. "Want ads," I said, and broke out laughing, for it seemed that no matter what we had wanted since coming to Elyria we had found that an ad in the Chronicle-Telegram had helped us out. "What are you talking about?" asked mother. "Just this," I answered. "You are worrying about the cost of living. Why not advertise one of our spare rooms for rent and we can make $250 a year or more extra. That will help, won't it, dear?" This time I remembered that the Chronicle-Telegram would take ads over the telephone, so I phoned in an ad to be placed under the heading of "Rooms for Rent."

ELYRIA AND LORAIN YEOMEN ATTEND BIG MEETING AT AKRON

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—A large number of Elyria members of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen were in attendance Saturday at the "Rhodamantis" which was held in Akron during the days of Feb. 24-26 inclusive. Those in attendance on this day were delegates from Toledo, Brookside, Cleveland, Lorain and Elyria. Elyria came away with the honors of second prize, consisting of eighteen badges just enough for the members of the degree team. Toledo beating them by a small margin in winning the silver cup. Over five hundred people were present at this gathering, and it was a pleasing and inspiring sight.

The feature of the program was a fancy drill given by the Wooster and Toledo degree teams which was the recipient of much applause and well commended. A sumptuous banquet was served in the Marion hall in Akron by the Akron team and altogether this was a meeting of much note. Those in attendance from Elyria and Lorain were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crouse, Mrs. William Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Young, Walter Young, Mr. and Mrs. William Gehe, Mr. Charles Pomeroy, Mrs. John Bonis, Mrs. Walter Standen, Mrs. George Massey, Mrs. Gus Prick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stack, Bert Quirk, Mr. and Mrs. William Muehe, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thayer, Mrs. Charles Kuss and Mrs. George Brown of Ridgeville.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH NOTICES FOR WEEK

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—The mid-week Lenten service at St. Andrew's church will be held as usual at 7:30 Wednesday night. This service promises to be unusually helpful with music from the choir and solo offertory and a message from the Rev. Mr. Hawthorne of Akron who will be the special preacher for the evening.

The Women's auxiliary will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Faxon of Midland avenue.

The regular monthly meeting of the vestry will be held in the guild room Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

CAMPBELL PARENT-TEACHERS HAVE DELIGHTFUL SESSION

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—The Campbell Parent Teachers association met Friday evening with a large attendance at the local school. County Superintendent Seale and District Superintendent Forum gave the addresses of the evening and talked in a very interesting manner on "Centralization." An oyster supper was served to fifty members and the evening proved a most delightful one for all in attendance.

UNITY CLUB HAS UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Mrs. George H. Chamberlain and daughter, Miss Gertrude, assisted by Miss Mina Myrders, delightfully entertained the members of the Unity club last Friday afternoon at their home on Ninth street. The ladies of the club compiled a very unique and clever book of rhymes, both humorous and otherwise, which was read during the afternoon and afforded much pleasure. One of the members composed a very original song to "Unity" which was adopted as a club song and will be sung at all future entertainments.

Delicious refreshments were served and the ladies departed with a deep sense of appreciation to their hostesses for the delightful afternoon.

Series of Articles Contributed by Members of Home Economics Department of The Woman's Civic Club

One of the most fascinating studies in nature is bird migration. Their bright and beautiful coloring catches the eye and we are wondrously drawn to listen to their varied songs; and then to watch their habits as they fit to and fro, while hunting for their food from the trees, shrubs and ground. This study never grows old, or monotonous; but every day and every year it becomes more interesting to the student. Thousands of people take a daily trip to the woods and fields to watch and study our little feathered friends.

Spring migration covers a period of three and one-half months. The first birds to pass northward are the Horned Larks, going over the snow-clad fields about Feb. 15, to their breeding ground in the arctic zone of Canada. They winter in the southern states. The Robin follows in the latter part of February, or the first days of March, unless the weather is unusually severe. The Bluebirds' cheery call will be heard soon after the advent of the Robin. Then the Purple Grackle, Canada Goose, Meadowlark and Mourning Dove will arrive, coming in great numbers. These early migrants are the ones that winter in our southern states.

During the latter part of March the birds that have wintered in the West Indies and Mexico begin to arrive in the southern states. The birds that come from farther south, begin to enter the states about the middle of April. These include the Swallows, Black and White Warbler, Spotted Sandpiper, and the Water Thrush. The last of April and the first of May, a great wave of little feathered sprites spread themselves over all the northern states. These include thousands of the beautiful tiny Warblers, Vireos and Flycatchers. They have wintered on the slopes of the Andes, or on the pampas of Brazil, and are on their way to Labrador, Hudson Bay, or the Alaska regions. The last to arrive is the Blackpoll Warbler; and he will travel at least 3,500 miles, or over 5,000 miles. We wonder how these tiny travelers can have the physical strength to cover so many miles, but they have an endurance of strength that is marvelous. To prove that these little wayfarers do travel such tremendous distances, has been demonstrated by placing aluminum bands on the leg, so that they may be recognized, year after year. This has also shown that many birds spend both their summer and winter in exactly the same locality.

The Arctic Tern is the champion long distance migrant, traveling a distance of 11,000 miles from Patagonia and the Shetland Islands to the extreme north, to breed. With nearly all species of birds the male arrives first. This is wise provision of nature, for the bird to secure a nesting site, as he drives away all other males from his chosen area. Then, with the arrival of his mate, they are ready to begin their home building at once.

The majority of birds migrate at night; and this is why we find so many of them during the early morning hours. They are very hungry, and are out seeking food; and also bringing cheer, with their merry, sweet songs and trills.

OBERLIN NEWS

FOUR DEATHS AT OBERLIN

OBERLIN, Feb. 28.—Four deaths recorded here during the past few days are:

The many friends and school mates of Mrs. Hazel Dewey Rocher will be shocked to hear of her sudden death, which occurred at her home in Lynn, Haven, Fla., on February 21. Mrs. Rocher was 23 years of age the day of her death. Mrs. Marion Gilbert of South Main street will leave soon for the south to bring the two little sons aged 15 months and four years to make their home with her in this place.

Mrs. Anna Thomas, mother of Mrs. Grace McDole of 15-1-2 South Main street died at the age of 84 years and 6 months. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon.

Jacob Franklin Spencer veteran of the Civil war and a highly respected colored citizen of this place, died at his home, 43 North Main street. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Spencer had been a resident of this place for some time. He was born in Cumberland, Md., Aug. 29, 1841. He enlisted in the 20th regiment of the Connecticut volunteers in 1862 and served until the close of the war. After a year of service he was promoted to a sergeant and was given a medal of honor for the capture of three rebel spies. This was one of his cherished possessions. He was an expert gun maker and was the first inspector of firearms at Winchester factory at New Haven, Conn.

The community was shocked to learn of the sudden death of Lewis Q. Cummings of 82 East College street, which occurred at the hospital. He is survived by a daughter and three sons, Miss Lois and Rob of this place, John who is in business in Napoleon, Charles who is still in the aerial service and is stationed near Washington D. C., his brother, Will, resides here and he has another brother, M. J. Cummings in Cleveland. Funeral services were held at the home Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and the remains will be taken to Ashland for burial. The services will be in charge of Rev. Nicholas Vander Pei of the United church and Rev. Wier of Chillicothe.

WILL IMPROVE CEMETERY AT OBERLIN

OBERLIN, Feb. 28.—An effort to improve the condition of Westwood cemetery is to be undertaken this spring and there is every reason to believe that the idea will be taken up with alacrity by the citizens.

The cemetery association is not a profit making concern and it only has a perpetual care fund of $15,000 the income from which is $750 a year. Only about 40 per cent of those owing lots contribute to this fund. Outside of running expenses there is not enough money to keep up and maintain the grounds in attractive style.

A movement has now been started whereby the people of the town will be asked to contribute to the cleaning up and beautifying of the grounds. Donations of funds for the roadways will also be asked for. This matter will be taken up at an early meeting of the Oberlin Business Men's club and it will undoubtedly be given every encouragement and support of club members. It has been suggested some time in May and people will be asked to contribute time to the work of cleaning and raking of grounds and roadways.

LADIES' NIGHT WAS BIG EVENT

OBERLIN, Feb. 28.—Ladies' night of the Oberlin Red and Gun club proved a most enjoyable feature for the large number which met in the First Methodist church Wednesday evening.

A tempting dinner was served by the ladies of the church after which President Henry Smith started the oratory. The opening speech was a toast to the women of the club by Mayor Phillips. While he felt incompetent to do the subject justice he proved himself quite equal to the task.

After the speaking the company adjourned to the little theatre in Sturges hall where three one-act plays were given by college students under the direction of Pro-

May Be Collector of Port of New York

According to reports from Washington, George W. Albridge, of Rochester, will be tendered the position of Collector of the Port of New York by President Harding. He is said to have the solid backing of the New York State Republican organization.

Professor Jalliffe. The plays were rewritten from O-Henry and were cleverly done. This part of the program was much enjoyed and was a happy ending to this big event of the local club.

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 28.—"They don't furnish us with any weights or anything to hitch with," said Edward E. Garner, driver of a city ash wagon when he pleaded guilty in police court to the charge of allowing his horses to remain unhitched in a city street. As the city does not furnish any means with the law, Judge Davis assessed whereby the drivers can comply Garner the costs only.

BETHESDA, Feb. 28.—Eggs are reported to be selling as low as 25 cents a dozen in certain Belmont and Monroe county towns. They are described as strictly fresh.

"Beauty Mart" Opens To-day to Teach Fair Ones Gentle Art of Putting on Drug Store Complexion and Dabbling the Nose with Powder

(By International News Service) CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Do you know how to powder your nose? What perfume is best adapted to your personality? Do your clothes bring out the best or worst features of your figure?

These are only a few of the questions Chicago's first annual "Beauty Mart" which opened in the Coliseum to-day, seeks to answer for the millay of 1921. Instruction will be given daily until March 6 in such difficult processes of obtaining the correct shade of rouge and then applying it in putting on rice powder so it will stick and other crimes of the twentieth century woman's toilet.

The "beauty mart" which is said to be the first exhibition of its kind ever held outside of Paris is sponsored by nearly 500 national manufacturers of practical aids to beauty, besides a vast display of cosmetics, hair goods, perfumes and other toilet aid, numerous contests will be held during the week, including a beauty contest for the high school girls of the nation, and contests to determine the most beautiful hair, eyes, complexion, the most perfect figure, the best kept hands and the prettiest feet and ankles.

"Beauty is only skin deep; why not be beautiful?" is the slogan of the promoters of the "beauty mart." Nor has the Beau Brummel of 1921 been forgotten in their exposition of beauty. Not only are there elaborate exhibits of razors, shaving soaps, creams, toilet waxes, cold creams, but the males who would be beautiful are given actual lesson by pretty young women attendants. Because of the many popular features of the "beauty mart" it is estimated that the exposition will be one of the best drawing cards at the Coliseum this season.

GERALD MARTIN CHIEF OF EMPLOYMENT DEPT.

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Gerald Martin of the Willys-Overland company is receiving the congratulations of his friends in connection with his promotion from the superintendent's office to chief of the employment department, to succeed Samuel Horner, who has resigned his position with the company.

RESIDENT OF MIDDLE RIDGE DIED SATURDAY

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—The funeral of Mrs. Hattie E. Barnes, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Evans of Middle Ridge, will be conducted from the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. N. Cook, 250 Fourth street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

She is also survived by three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Minnie E. Rowan of Oberlin, Mrs. H. M. Rich of Cleveland, Mrs. R. C. Hartman, Toronto, Canada and E. L. Barnes of Cleveland.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Feb. 28.—Instruction in the making of dresses at home is to be taught to members of the Belmont County Farm Bureau. Mrs. James D. Lyle is chairwoman of a committee that will hold demonstrations in various parts of the county. This move is supported by the Home Economics Department of Ohio State University.

BELLAIRE, Feb. 28.—The American Legion will have charge of Memorial Day observance here. Because of the small number of remaining members, officials of Spangler post, G. A. R., asked the world war veterans to take charge.

STUDENT'S SOUL TAKES JOURNEY THROUGH THE INVISIBLE

In a startling psychological test at Stanford University, Cal., recently, the "soul" of Arthur Bragg, a Freshman student, was taken on a flight by Baron Eugene Tesson. The flight was alleged to have carried Bragg's "soul" to the gates of Paradise as well as to many other places on earth, including the bedside of his sick father in Chicago. The demonstration was made in the presence of a number of students and is said to have been almost unanimous. Bragg, it is reported, talked of seeing the angels in Heaven and of other wonders that enthralled his listeners. Baron Tesson admitted that he could not perform the same "stunts" on every person, saying that Bragg was a receptive subject. Young Bragg professed to be as amazed as anyone in the audience, having always regarded such demonstrations as frauds.

BRIDGEPORT, Feb. 28.—Because penny tickets, used on Ohio river bridges were of the same color as the 25 cent zone tickets used by the Wheeling Traction Company, the car company has issued new tickets of a different color. It is claimed that patrons dropped the bridge tickets into fare boxes on the cars instead of using the higher priced tickets issued by the company.

There's greater cleaning surface in a Harzee reversible dust mop

Long-strand cotton yarn forms the deep, soft cleaning surface of a Harzee dust mop. This yarn is attached to a circular wire frame so that when the outer yarn surface becomes worn, a twist brings the fresh surface into use. Another reason why a Harzee mop lasts so long.

THE WAY JAKIE MUSKRAT WAS CURED OF LAZINESS.

MORNING after morning Mama Muskrat would almost call herself a housewife trying to get Jakie out of bed.

Now, the rest of the muskrat family—Snippy, Specky and Tummy—were always up bright and early, helping their good mother do the work, but never Jakie. He snored right through it all, and grew lazier every second of the day.

His brothers and sisters stood it just as long as they could, then they ran to their mother with a plan. Mama Muskrat didn't see how they were going to help matters, but she told them if they meant no harm to Jakie they had her consent to carry out the plan.

One evening when Jakie felt lazier than usual he went to bed without hanging his waterproof coat on his nail, for you must know that was one of the lessons Mama Muskrat tried to teach her children, always to put away their coats where they could find them to find them in case of accident. When Mama Muskrat found the little coat out of place, rather than scold, she hung it up, and there Jakie would find it in the morning.

This particular evening, when he awoke, Jakie carelessly flung his coat on a chair and topped into bed.

Mama Muskrat was about to pick it up and hang it on the nail when Tummy, Snippy and Specky stopped her. "All right," she sighed, shaking her head. "I only hope it will work."

"Kiss her was one good-night she tucked them all in bed.

The next morning, bright and early, Snippy Muskrat crept out of bed long before his mama was awake. Winking at Specky and Tummy, who were both wide awake, but very quiet, he slipped into his waterproof coat and hurried out the door, being very careful not to awaken Jakie.

Pretty soon the whole family of muskrats were awakened by a terrible scurrying, and Snippy, almost out of breath, flung open the door, and called to his brothers and sisters to hurry.

Tummy, Specky and Mama Muskrat hurried into their clothes as fast as they could, and scrambled out the safety door, one that was never used except in case of danger. Jakie awakened and jumped up to find his coat hanging on the wall as usual.

To save his life he couldn't remember where he had put it.

Giving it up in despair he scouted up the delivery men of the shop across the street, and saw through the window, Tummy, Specky and Snippy pulled him to the bank, and Mama Muskrat wrapped him in the shawl she had thrown over her head.

Jakie Muskrat was cold and wet, and felt very miserable.

"I couldn't find my coat," he chattered. "It wasn't on the nail."

"Believe me, mine was," cried Tummy. "And it always will be hanging there, for I'm sure I always want to be ready for an emergency."

"You'd better take to hanging it up, for you might be caught someday," suggested Snippy.

Just then Billy Beaver poked his head up out of the water and laughed merrily.

Just wondered if you folks were as careful as you should be, that's why I called that early call," he laughed. Then he handed Jakie his waterproof coat. "This started out to be a joke on you, Jakie, but I overheard the boys planning it, so I decided to have some fun with them also."

Mama Muskrat took her children home and gave them each a cup of hot tea. You may believe it or not, from that day on, Jakie Muskrat always hangs his coat right where he can get it, and he also tumbles out of bed when he hears his mama stirring around. She never had to wait on him after that.

HOLDING A HUSBAND

Revelations of a Wife

Who Are the Intruders?

FORTUNATE, indeed was I to have an occupation like the humming of Lillian's window draperies during Lillian's search through the contents of my wrecked keespeake trunk for some clue to the marauding hands which had flung them in a heap on the floor after mutilating some of them.

If it had been anything less mechanical I could not have kept my mind on it, for my ears were keenly alert to every rustle of paper, and especially to every time when there was absolute silence of movement on Lillian's part. It was then, although I could not see her, that I knew some fresh evidence of wantonness had engaged her attention, and every nerve in my body delivered with anxious stress.

For my needs know no diminution of speed, and I thanked my little husband for the almost automatic skill she had given me by yielding training so long ago. The occupation staided me, held me to sanity until the noise of the evening trunk lid and Lillian's away, coming to my side signalled the end of her task.

What Lillian Heard.

"Everything is back in the trunk, dear," she said softly, "with the exception of a few articles which I know you won't mind my keeping for a little more careful attention. Not one of them was your mother's—indeed, her things have not been disturbed, as far as I can judge. Do you want to see these things I have?"

I did want to see them, intensely, but there was that in Lillian's voice—so good and so full of infection—which betrayed the fact that she would rather I did not look at them. So I heroically repressed my inclination to eager assent and shook my head instead.

"It would only upset me," I said truthfully.

She laid her hand for a tender, approving instant upon my shoulder, then moved bravely away.

"If you can tell me where I can find some wrapping paper and twine," she said in matter of fact tones, "I'll have every trace of disturbance removed in the next hour."

"In my father's room, on the top shelf of that old-fashioned wardrobe," I directed. "I always depend on him for my supply of those things, and I noticed this morning when Katie and I were cleaning his room there were plenty of both there."

"All right, I'll be back in a minute," she went out of the room, and through the open door, I heard her, in my father's room, then, to my surprise, her footsteps went rapidly to the rear of the hall beyond, which are the rooms of Jim and Katie, and from which a staircase descends to the kitchen. There she came back and said, "I heard nothing more from her for a long minute, when she came flying back."

A Wild Question.

"I think Katie is having some difficulty with some one selling things," she said laughing. "I can hear her voice raised excitedly, telling somebody that they shall not come in home one little inch. You're used to her, so I thought I'd come back and ask you whether she needed any help to repel whatever invasion is threatened."

"Katie is always having difficulty with someone," I replied indifferently. "She's always getting into trouble with her temper, and delight to provoke her. At any rate, Jim is no good within call."

"Yes, I heard her quivering voice in a peremptory call for 'Jem'." Lillian returned. "No doubt everything is all right."

How to Care for Your Skin If It Tends Toward Redness

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

There is no real remedy for this unless you wish to give up your outdoor life. However, such redness in many cases quite attractive, as it suggests a rosy, healthy, and that greatest of blessings—good health. Indeed, those women whose complexions acquire the rich, ruddy color often tempered by tan, would soon lose this healthy glow.

If, however, you are not to the manner born, but because of your health have to be outdoors all the time, you may modify this redness by a judicious application of cream before you venture abroad.

Excellent Outdoor Cream.

Whitewash..... 1 ounce
Oil of sweet almonds..... 1 ounce
Spermaceti..... 6 drams
Borax..... 2 drams
Eucalypti..... 12 ounces
Orange flower water..... 1 ounce
Oil of orange peel..... 1 ounce
Oil of neroli..... 15 drops
Soft soap, spermaceti and oil of sweet almonds. Add the Eucalypti, rub some of this preparation well into your skin before you go outdoors. This cream is also admirable for nourishing the skin when well massaged into the parts that need nourishment.

While exposure frequently causes redness, yet sometimes congestion is responsible for a red face. If this is the cause the redness usually appears on the nose and cheeks. While errors of digestion are sometimes responsible for this, right clothing often is at the root of this trouble.

If the color of your complexion is more ruddy than you like, look first to your clothing, and if it does not consist of wool, yet the difficulty persists, then have recourse to your physician. You must not read or work with your head bent after you have eaten. Avoid rich pastries and highly seasoned foods.

Perhaps you may suffer from cold feet, which often causes congestion of the face. If this is so, wear warm woolen hose, and let them keep the feet warm and help to relieve the congestion. Another precaution is that of care in washing your face. You should use hot water for this. The addition of a little toilet vinegar is exceedingly helpful. The following formula makes an admirable toilet vinegar.

Toilet Vinegar.

Rosewater..... 10 drams
Boracic acid..... 1 dram
Essence of roses..... 1 drop
Dissolve the boracic acid in the rosewater, and when thoroughly dissolved, add the essence of roses. Be sure to shake thoroughly.

This toilet vinegar will be found to impart a delightful feeling to the skin. The boracic acid is soothing and softening, besides being extremely beneficial. The addition of the essence of roses will give the preparation a delicate perfume which will be not only delightful, but lasting.

This lotion is so inexpensive to make that it may be applied as frequently as desired.

It is especially refreshing to use after your bath.

Another time to derive its pleasant benefits is when you are a bit tired. It will refresh your skin wonderfully.

Good massage is also helpful, while you will receive much benefit from about the treatments, should your head bent where you can get the corners of an eye.

Exercise care as outlined in regard to your health will do much to reduce the redness which causes you so much distress when you look in the mirror and regret your color.

PRESENTING HIS PETITION

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Tragedy's Record

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

FOR SALE: The haunted house. On the market again! It was only a year ago that it was sold to the brilliant young officer, home from Europe with his French bride, and his Croix de Guerre and his fortune and his place in the world waiting for him as if he'd never been away for a minute.

Strange about that house! It stands on a high hill in a windy city on the edge of the continent.

It is built to look like a Norman castle. The living room is magnificent—a hundred feet long and eighty feet broad, with a gallery at one end of it for the musicians, and an open fireplace that will admit thirty men standing erect in it. It has great kitchens and vaults, three magnificent gardens, a staircase created among architects all over the continent, a view of the sea, and is furnished like one of Aladdin's palaces—all luxury, all color, all beauty.

No one who's ever lived there has ever known happiness. It was built long ago, they say, by a man who left his wife and fell in love with a beautiful young woman, and built the house for her according to her every whim. Nothing was too magnificent, nothing too beautiful, nothing too costly to serve as a setting to her gorgeous beauty.

On the night that he brought her home, there was a great storm and a fire, and the new house trembled as if the earth were going to open and swallow it up, and the beautiful young woman ran out into the dark in her dressing gown and never came back again to the house that was built for her with so much money and so much loving care.

Some say her conscience troubled her and she was afraid.

Open Again

For years the splendid castle—for so it really seemed to be—stood on the brow of a hill. There were strange whispers about it in the neighborhood. People moved in, stayed a month or so, and moved out.

When it was supposed to be empty, dim lights flickered along the echoing corridors, and in the garden tiny figures fluttered to and fro, and on stormy nights there was a sound of gusty laughter from the empty banquet hall.

Finally, the police watched the place and found that opium smugglers had moved in there in the night, and kept an opium den.

The place was raided, the house swept and garnished, the broken windows mended, the fine woods polished again, and the house sold to the hero who was coming home with his foreign bride.

It was opened with a grand party—flowers, music, dancing and such a supper as Lucullus himself knew how to give.

"The curse is off the old house at last," said the people in the neighborhood. "Youth and honest love will make it gay again."

The neglected gardens bloomed with roses. Vines ran up and covered the arbors, and every night the lights gleamed from the tall windows and

ADVISE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are three troubled friends who need advice. We are all in love. One boy, who is away from home, says he loves me, but seldom writes the letters tell of the big times he is having with other girls. Please tell me if this is a sign that he is forgetting me, and must I try to forget him?

It is improper to kiss a boy when you are sure that your love is mutual. Two of us have an invitation to take a trip with a boy friend. What shall we do?

What would you advise a broken-hearted lover to do in order to overcome his grief?

Dear Annie Laurie, be jealous a sign of true love?

YOUR HEALTH

What Catarrh Really Is and What You Can Do for It

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. Commissioner of Health, New York City

PROBABLY ninety-nine persons out of every hundred have more or less catarrh. The prevalence of the disease has made it a favorite condition to be discussed by the makers of nostrums and "cures." More "catarrh cures" were on the market a generation ago than almost all other remedies combined.

When one has a cold the lining of the nose becomes inflamed. This means that the blood-vessels are swollen. As a result of the extra blood supply, the glands of the lining membranes are over-active and the secretions are increased.

When the cold has run its course the swelling disappears, the blood-vessels resume their normal size and the patient is well. Suppose you have one cold after another. Before the first cold is ended, another is taken. You can see what will happen—the blood-vessels lose their elasticity and remain swollen. As a result, the tissues in the nose become thickened. The glands are chronically overworked. There is so much mucus it runs out of the nose, requiring the frequent use of the handkerchief. Also, the mucus runs back into the throat, requiring coughing and other efforts to remove it.

Opening into the nose are several cavities called the nasal sinuses. These, too, are lined with mucous membranes. The inflammation of the nasal lining extends to the sinuses. These also are filled with mucus. The result is the amount of mucus is enormous, and endless handkerchiefs are required for comfort.

Bad as are the symptoms of catarrh, the trouble would not be so serious if it were to stop here. But the catarrhal condition extends to the ears and into the throat. It affects the general health. It makes the victim unhappy because he is a nuisance to others, and he is shunned by others because of his constant spitting and blowing of the nose.

What can be done for catarrh? In the first place, don't get it! Take care of every cold. Never neglect what is too often considered a matter of little consequence. "Great cures from little ailments grow." Great ills come from neglected colds.

Cleanliness of the nasal tissues is essential. To this end use an atomizer, not the douche. Using a douche is like stroking the hair of a cat the wrong way. The tissues of the nose are made up of cells that have hair-like coverings, and using the douche irritates them beyond reason. The solution to be employed is a matter of individual choice. Any one of the following alkaline spray solutions is satisfactory. Or you may make one of baking soda, salt and water.

Spray the parts, pressing the bulb four or five times on each side of the nose. Then gently blow out the fluid. Do this night and morning.

If you do not respond to treatment and greatly improve, see your doctor. He will use argyrol tampons, or suggest such further treatment as is necessary.

Answers to Health Questions

SO WORRIED. Q—My boy, 14, is asthmatic. He seems to be unable to get any relief. Also the pupils of his eyes are very small. What would you suggest?

A—The eyes have nothing to do with the asthma, and it is not unusual for some persons to have large pupils. The cause of the asthma must be sought for by some expert in food poisoning. Very likely the boy is suffering from some form of food poisoning.

T. K. Q—My scalp is dry and full of dandruff. What would you advise?

A—Massage olive oil into the scalp three times a week. Use a little of the following recipe alternate days, and wash the hair once a week.

Thioctone cartharides..... 40 drops
Spirit of Rosemary..... 8 ounces
Spirit of Lavender..... 3 ounces

C. B. Q—Will you kindly tell me the cause of hives?

A—Hives are usually the result of some indigestion in diet. Avoid eating fish, eggs, pork, etc. Local applications of hyposulfite of soda, a tablespoonful to a quart of water, are very soothing. Consult your doctor to determine the specific foods which cause the trouble.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. R. S. Copeland, in care of this office.

COLONIAL

"NUMBER SEVENTEEN"
ELYRIA, Feb. 28—Mystery, love and adventure in New York's underworld are the theme of "Number 17," a new William Fox photoplay starring George Walsh, at the American theatre now. The play is from the famous novel of the same name by Louis Tracy.

In "Number 17," George Walsh is said to have one of the most thrilling roles of his career. He plays the part of a man, who, single-handed, fights a gang of enemies who would destroy him and those he loves.

George A. Beranger, the director, is reported to have paid extreme attention to detail in setting out to put on the screen a true picture of New York life—with a result that is startling in its realism.

TALLAFERRO AVIATION FIELD, DEATH'S PLAYGROUND DURING WAR, TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Training Camp at Fort Worth, Where Several Noted Men Crashed To Death, Will Be Sold To Highest Bidder on Feb. 27

(By International News Service)
FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 28.—Tallafarro Field, death's playground during the war, established by the Canadian Air Service in 1917 and later taken over by the United States, will fall under the auction hammer February 27, following orders from Washington.

Tallafarro, the last of Texas's eight war-time air-force training camps, has not known the vibrant hum of whizzing planes for many months. Only one officer and one plane remain now as the total equipment.

Barron Field here has been made the concentration point for dismantled air service equipment of the Southwest. More than 300 planes will be shipped from that field by June 30.

The three aviation camps established here during the war, Tallafarro, Barron and Carruthers, recorded the deaths of many famous men, among them Captain Vernon Castle, Captain DeWitt Payne, Lieutenant Robert Isett and Lieutenant Peyton C. March, Jr., son of General Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff.

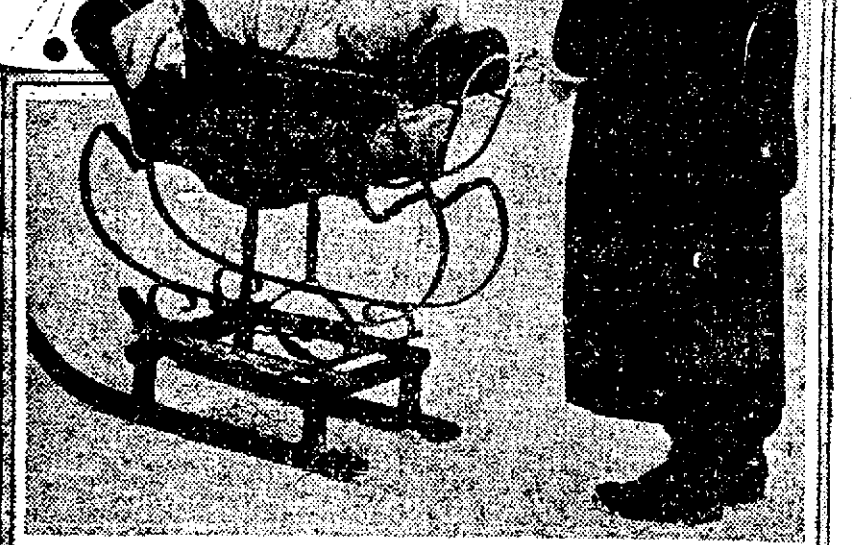

It was at Barron Fields that Ormer Locklear, most famous daredevil of the air, and his mechanic, Milton Elliott, learned the stunt that made them famous and ultimately brought them to their death while participating in the filming of a moving picture at Los Angeles.

During the existence of the three fields 106 fatalities were recorded during nearly 100,000 hours of flying.

The madder and the poppy are indefinitely stated to have originated in "the east."

Humboldt sets down the Dracena Draco (a tree) at Orotava, in Tenerife as one of the oldest inhabitants of the earth.

BABY MUST HAVE THE AIR: SLEIGH

In Chamounix, the French winter resort, where snow removal methods are not so effective and up-to-date as here, mothers have adopted the sled perambulator for use in conveying their offspring about with them. One advantage of the novel affair is that it can be taken with one on a skiing or ice-skating trip as well as shopping expedition. Ladies, the sled perambulator.

SUNFLOWER STARS IN MOVIE DRAMA, "FROM HUMBLE WEED TO SILO KING"

Harvesting a Golden Forest

Into the Silo

EDMONTON, ALTA.—The sunflower has become a rival of Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin. It has made its debut in the movies. Pictures taken last year on George Emerson's dairy farm near Edmonton by a cinema camera are being exhibited. They show the sunflower in every phase from seed to milk and butter.

The drama of the sunflower begins with the planting of the seed. The hardy young crop shoots up so rapidly from the earth you can almost see it grow. When the harvest is ripe, the plants stand thirteen feet high and the fields are gorgeous with the great yellow blossoms. The shuttling knives of the horse-drawn reaper bring them toppling to earth like a miniature forest before a storm. Then they are cut up by machines and stored in the silos. All winter they are fed to the dairy herd. The "fade out" comes with the milk foaming in the pails and the great churns turning out pyramids of golden butter.

Once regarded as a weed, the sunflower is now regarded as one of the best silage crops. Its nutritive value, ton for ton, is said to be equal to corn fodder while its per acre yield is approximately double that of any other silage crop. It produces from thirty to thirty-five tons to the acre.

Worse Than Measles or Mumps Is Our Greatest Disease—Worry

(By International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—The sin of worry is an important factor in the spread of the crime wave now sweeping the country, according to Rev. Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church here, discussing "The Great American Disease."

"Worry is a dissipation and is farther reaching than the liquor traffic," said Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse. "Worry is regarded as the greatest contributing cause in breaking down our intellectual and moral life. Worry is a contagion which has afflicted all mankind. It flourishes in the king's palace and you will find it in the hovel."

"There is no nation on the earth that suffers from this disease as does America. Europeans say they can always tell an American. He is smartly dressed, but has such a haggard look. 'The greatest cause of worry is the fear of losing a job. Loss of health and fear of a dependent old age are next. All these involve food, drink and shelter. The only reason we fear these things is our lack of faith. There is no worry in nature. The flocks of the field and the birds of the air never worry about their food. 'Worry is more prevalent in the middle and upper classes. They worry because civilization as it advances becomes more complex, and the complexity of our life wears out our lives. 'I attribute the growth of Christian Science largely to this disease of worry. You may say what you like about the folly of it all, but folks follow it because the great big thing in their programme is lack of worry.'"

TWENTY PER CENT REDUCTION TO BE EFFECTIVE SOON

TRADE UNIONISTS URGED TO COMPLY WITH DEMAND IN ORDER THAT BUILDING PROGRAM MAY BE ENCOURAGED—WORKERS TO MEET AT MACHINISTS HALL THIS EVENING TO DISCUSS ACTION TAKEN BY CONTRACTORS

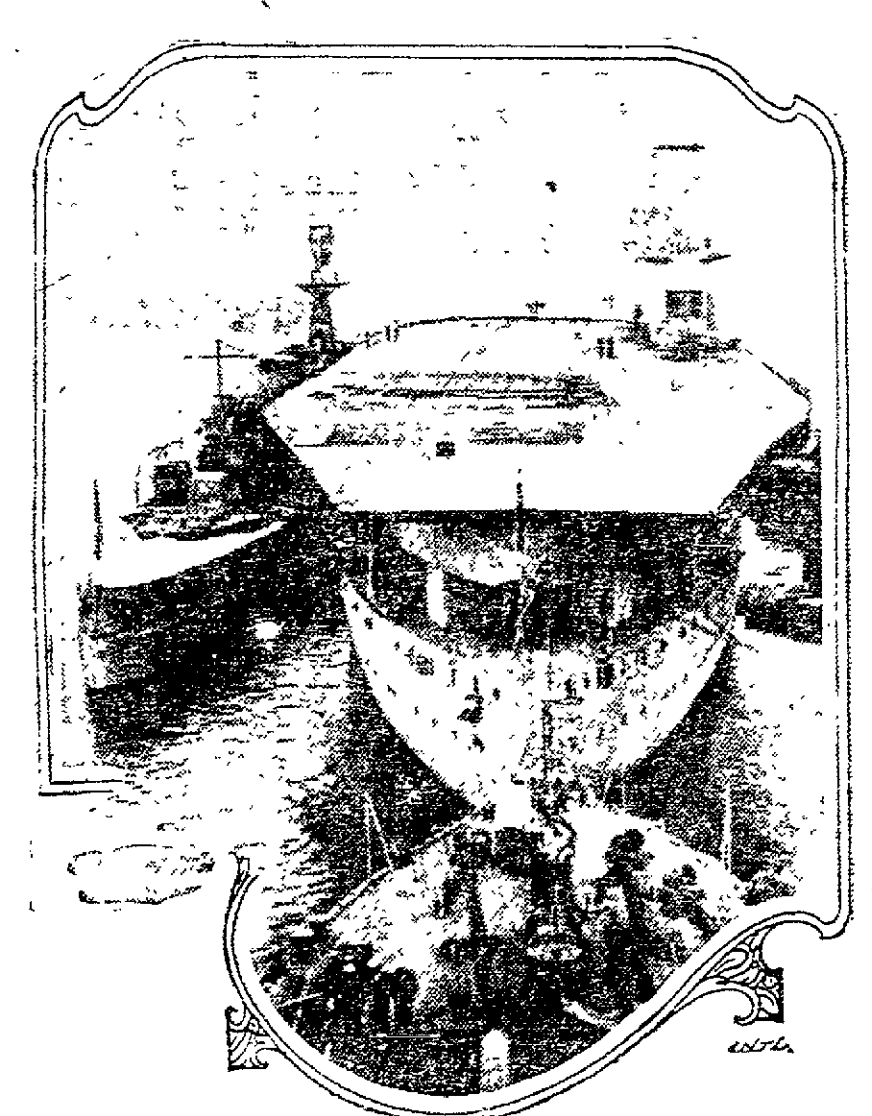

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—At a meeting of the Elyria Building Contractors council, conducted at the Chamber of Commerce Hall, Saturday afternoon, it was unanimously agreed to demand a cut of 20 percent in the wages paid members of all the trade organizations, including every craft represented in this city.

This action was taken following a long discussion relative to existing condition in general and the contractors hope the various workers will consent to the reduction, as they point out that it is no more than right that the contractors be permitted to cut the price on jobs 20 percent, in order to stimulate building.

Holding Off
The contractors claim that everything which enters into the construction of buildings, is lower than such materials have been for some time, but that labor is demanding as much as it did before the cost of living was reduced along with about everything else and they can see no reason why this cost should not be reduced here as it is being throughout the country.
That much building would be done were it not for the high cost of labor is the inducement offered the workers or the contractors in an effort to convince them that they would be benefited by such a program.
The contractors do not wish to appear to be arbitrary in the matter and are trusting that by April 1, the trade councils will have decided that the action taken by the contractors Saturday was justified.

Cite Precedent
In support of the stand taken by them, the contractors call attention to the fact that manufacturing plants and other concerns throughout the country are or have announced a reduction in the wage scale and that the contractor is warranted in following suit.
The meeting conducted Saturday was largely attended and there was no discussion among the members of the Building Contractors council as to the policy adopted on that occasion.
It is understood that the members of the various Trade councils have called a meeting for this evening at which time the action taken by the local contractors will be discussed pro and con.
The outcome of this conference will be watched with interest by the Elyrians as it may mean that this first important step in the reconstruction program may be carried out without a hitch, or it may mean a general walkout of all trade unionists in this city April 1.

UNITED WE STAND BY GEORGE B. WICKENS
Lorain, Lorain known far and wide is the name. They history, thy growth—is our individual pride. Thy erstwhile good graces and thy fame, It seems of late—has been cast aside. Can it be that the good of this city—our home, Shall become the nest of discontent and revolt: Is to turnish propaganda for the ones who grow, Misguided, dissatisfied and ready to bolt. Are we longer to sanction within our herds, Those whose only desire is not to build, but to destroy. Rather than to know the fact that a hoard, Oft times bites the kindly hand which feeds him, my boy. Nav, No matter our color—no matter our creed, Lorain, gathering to herself, her pride: Protects her citizenry, her firesides, her every need, And declares against all enemies—she stands, side by side.

Notified Bank To Stop Payment On Company's Checks

ATTORNEY T. A. CONWAY REFUSED AD-MISSION TO OFFICE OF WESTERN RESERVE FINANCE COMPANY OF-FICE TODAY—FINDS NEW LOCK ON DOOR AND BARS ACROSS THE WIN-DOWS, THEN VISITS DEPOSITORY OF LOAN COMPANY—CRITICISE CON-CERN

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—Stanley G. Shaw and his reinforcements were in possession of the offices of the Western Reserve Finance Co., this morning and not even a reporter was permitted to enter the room.

The window in the outer door has been heavily barred with strips of iron and a new padlock has been placed in the door in order to prevent any duplicate key which may have been furnished with the old lock being used to secure an entrance to the office.

Charles Conway, son of Attorney Conway, who was endeavoring to gain access to the office, stated that at least 30 persons had tried to enter the room before 11:00 o'clock this morning, but had been refused admittance, probably because those in possession feared he would force his way inside.

Shaw Talks
E. O. S. Brown, one of the Lorain stockholders was engaged in conversation with Conway's son when they were approached by a reporter who inquired concerning the situation and as to who was on the inside looking out.
Shaw was summoned over the phone and stated that the door would not be opened to anyone as he was busy straightening out the affairs of the company which had been neglected during the battle for possession of the office.

He said that no court action had been taken as far as he knew and that no papers had been served on him in connection with the present controversy which has arisen among the stockholders.

"You had not better try to come in the office," suggested Shaw, the reporter, "as you will not be able to get out." He was with a laugh and a shrug wondering whether the hint was a promise or a threat, but he was neutral and decided not to take a chance.

Serves Notice
T. A. Conway stated to a Chronicle-Telegram representative shortly before noon, that he had visited the offices of the company this morning, but had been refused admittance and that the place was barred.

They are not as brave as I was, as they have the door locked and barred, whereas I left the door open and did business with the customers when they came in when I was running the office," mentioned Conway in a gleeful manner.

"I have served notice on the depository of the company, the Elyria, not to honor any checks issued by the Western Reserve Finance company, although I have not shivered a similar notice on the other local banks," stated Conway.

That Shaw and his bodyguard structure program may be carried out without a hitch, or it may mean a general walkout of all trade unionists in this city April 1.

Nearly 100 Hurt As Trains Crash

when the crash came. Another strange freak of the wreck was a woman apparently in her thirties who was found with her clothing torn completely from her body.

The work of rescue was begun by lantern light while the Porter volunteer fire department played esible streams of water on the burning wreckage. The whole scene was illuminated by the red glare from the open fire boxes of the locomotives.

The air was filled with shrieks and screams from the injured and the dying, many of whom were pinned beneath the wreckage. Trainmen, passengers and townspeople armed with axes and picks climbed over the wreckage, chopping a way through the debris, and the injured out to safety. Between 14 and 20 cars were strewn along the right of way, many at crazy angles, while two were reduced to kindling wood.

Later in the night two cranes and 200 laborers toiled in the blue glare of arc lights in an effort to bring order out of chaos. Several agents of the two roads patrolled the so-called wreck to prevent possible looting of the dead.

The ground for a wide area and even the telegraph wires were covered with splinters and fine bits of wood.

AKRON, Feb. 28.—Suits attacking the validity of the will of Joseph Kelly, who died in Pittsfield, Mass., in 1917, was filed here today when Josephine P. Grant-Kelly of Boston filed suit against the Kelly heirs demanding an accounting and return of property valued at $150,000, including title to one of the business blocks here.

The trucks were torn from the locomotive of the New York Central train and thrown high into the air. The front was crushed in.

Miraculous Escape
One of the Pullman sleepers of the Canadian Limited bound for Toronto carried 14 passengers and the other for Montreal carried 18. With the exception of bruises and slight cuts none of the occupants were hurt. The two Canadian parlor cars, one bound for Detroit and the other for Grand Rapids also came out unscathed.

Among the women on the New York Central train was Frances Kennedy, vaudeville star. She was not injured and aided in the care of the injured.

The list of dead shows the names of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Van Riper of Michigan City. Mr. Van Riper had been an engineer on the Michigan Central for an even fifty years and drove his last engine two days ago, having been retired from active duty on a pension. He and his wife had been to Chicago to celebrate the occasion.

HAMLIN TRIAL ATTRACTS CROWD

Divorce Case Now on Hearing in Court Room No. 2—Each Side Charges the Other With Being To Blame for the Trouble

ELYRIA, Feb. 28.—When the Hamlin divorce case was called before Judge Thompson, in court room No. 2, this morning, standing room was at a premium. The court room was crowded to capacity, and great interest was manifested in the proceedings.

Attorney Stevens for Mrs. Hamlin stated his case to the court, saying that the married life of the couple had not been a happy one. There had been friction in the home which culminated with the Sandusky occurrence, when Mrs. Hamlin found him in a Sandusky hotel room with Emma Thompson. He claimed they went there by appointment, and although there was no evidence that a crime had been committed, he believed that there was enough to warrant her suspicions. He also stated that Mr. Hamlin had been quarrelsome, and had not treated his wife right.

Attorney Stroup, for Mr. Hamlin, stated that he admitted that the home life of the couple was not as it should be, but that she was to blame for it. He stated that she had continually watched her husband, had interfered with his business by bursting into the room where he was consulting with them and wanting to know what was going on. Had acted as a detective, on many occasions and dogged his business by bursting into the room where he was consulting with them and wanting to know what was going on. CARDIFF HAS NO MARKET FOR COAL

Ships Lie Idle at Docks of Greatest Coal Shipping Port in World and Situation Is Becoming Worse

By EARL C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Cardiff, normally the greatest coal shipping port in the world, has been stricken by German and American competition until more than fifty ships lie idle alongside her docks, while the situation daily grows worse.

Cardiff is being cited in England as the telling example of what labor must do; how to decrease in wages, if there is to be a revival of industries in Britain.

Briefly, its situation is this: A few months ago the continent, particularly France and Italy, were crying for coal. Then when strike threatened exports were cut to increase local stocks.

When the national stoppage ended, Cardiff awakened to find that on the one hand German deliveries to France under the treaty had been in great volume, and on the other hand that America had stepped in and supplied both France and Italy with almost complete stocks for their needs.

Cardiff loses market. Cardiff was virtually without a market. Coal could not be sold abroad at the quotations set for export coal. Far off in America, figuratively "carry coals to Newcastle," or unceremonially the greatest port in the world practically on her own doorstep.

During the same time America, due to the slashing of prices, and in some degree to lessening of the wage charges, virtually stole the Canadian tinplate market from the Welsh plants.

And Belgium, which was the first of the European nations to reconstruct in the field of iron and steel, Belgium can deliver steel bars in Swansea at, roughly, $52 a ton against an English manufacturing price of $88. Cardiff's hitherland manufactures tinplate and steel product, and produces coal. For none of these can it find a foreign market.

Striking figures are being given also at the shipping costs. It is estimated the daily cost of operation of a 6,000-ton tramp in 1905 was $46, in 1912 was $100 and today is $540. Cardiff has a million tons of shipping, which cannot be operated at a profit, and a vast amount of it cannot be operated at all, for there is nothing to be carried.

Labor War Coming. Cardiff sees no way out except lower production costs, which must come through lower wages. Labor throughout not only Wales but the whole of the British Isles is out for

VENUS DE MILO CLASSED 'STYLISH STOUT,' DECLARE MODERN GIRLS OF TODAY

Young woman of 1921 has no desire to be like ancient standard of physical perfection in physique—heroic type of woman not admired by her sex.

Written by MARGERY REX for the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Venus de Milo has always been cited as the standard of perfection in physique.

Every once in a while some authority on physical training expresses his willingness to shake Venus's good right hand—provided that someone can find it for him—because she is so different from all the other girls he knows.

At such times the critic, whoever he may be—it is usually a he—makes comparisons with the girls of his day, very much to their disgust.

The disgust is due to two reasons. First, that anyone should waste time criticizing them when they could employ their time in admiration.

Second, and more important reason, because the average young woman regards Venus, though considered of model proportions, as merely a "stylish, stout" of the old Greek days.

This time the critic of modern measurements of young ladies is Dr. R. Tate McKenzie, of the physical department of the University of Pennsylvania. He opines:

"If we compare the typical student of our women's colleges with the deep-chested vital type that has come to us through the succession of Venuses like the Venus de Milo, we are apt to become pessimistic over the human race." Then he adds:

"This may be some explanation of the fact that the native American race depends for its continuance upon immigration."

Now, we have never heard the sighs of many maidens trying to emulate the armless idol of physical worshipers. As a matter of fact, the heroic type of woman is not widely admired of her own sex.

But purely for argument's sake we will offer some opinions concerning Venus, also the respective proportions and claims to consideration of both, including the future of the race, and perhaps, if we have room left, a word about the young man of today.

A fight to a finish against general wage reductions.

Labor argues that industrial rehabilitation will come through raising the standard of living, through increase of workers' opportunities to buy.

There is a deadlock of industrial theories. It probably will continue for months. Meanwhile Cardiff takes on the appearance of Pittsburgh in a panic year.

BATTLESHIP IS BACKBONE OF FLEET

Secretary Daniels, of the Navy, Refuses to Alter His Conviction That Capital Ships Are Navy's Mainstay

By HARRY L. ROGERS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—The conviction which has ranged both in the United States and abroad as to the comparative value of capital ships, aircraft and submarines in naval warfare has not shaken the conviction of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels that the battleship is the "backbone" of the fighting fleet, and must not be abandoned by the American navy.

"One hears considerable talk nowadays," said the secretary, "to the effect that we should scrap all our battleships and devote our entire attention to building aircraft submarines. Some of this talk, if it is true, has come from naval officers. I have noticed, however, that the naval officers both here and in Great Britain who hold this view are on the retired list. The officers who might be called upon to do actual fighting are almost without exception in favor of the capital ship."

Though the secretary is firm in his conviction that the big ship is the mainstay of the fleet, he is by no means opposed to the use of auxiliary fighting force. In fact, he has repeatedly called the attention of congress to the necessity of such craft in "rounding out" the fleet, and he has given every encouragement to scientific development along those lines.

The NC-4 seaplanes and the "Giant Boats," type, which more than a third larger than the NC boats, are examples of the navy's pioneer work in navigation of the air, and the new fleet submarines show its policy of keeping up with the times in the submarine field. The secretary cited experiments conducted with the obsolete battleship Indiana as a proof that the navy has been thoroughly alive to the need of taking cognizance of a rival bombing as a factor in naval warfare and contended that the results of those experiments proved the capital ship has little to fear from aircraft.

He considers these experiments a complete reply to the charges of Brigadier General Mitchell, of the U. S. Army Air Service.

The capital ship, Daniels frankly admits is being modified continually as the science of naval warfare progresses. The original capital ship was the "ship of the line" of a century ago. New types have arisen, as when the ironclad came into existence, but the battleship or its equivalent has always survived.

The search for a simpler and cheaper substitute has been constant, and with the development of every new weapon enthusiasts have asserted that the battleship has been sent to the junk yard. In the opinion of the secretary, however, history has shown that for every new weapon against the battleship a defense has been developed either by modification of the battleship itself or by adopting a new weapon or new type of vessel to work with the battleship.

At present there are a million and a half more barrels of apples in storage than a year ago, according to official figures.

The best of barrelled stock is being quoted at wholesale for 34 a barrel.

In view of this situation, it is held that consumers are justified in using more apples.

In an ideal diet, says Deal Alford, Visian of the College of Agriculture, as much should be expended for fruits and vegetables together as for bread and cereals, and more than is spent for meat, butter, and other fats. The only article of diet for which one is justified in spending more is milk.

Apples supply necessary minerals and aid in preventing indigestion, scurvy and constipation, improve the sanitary condition of the bowels and promote the growth of children. It has been demonstrated that the antiscorbutic vitamin contained in apples is an essential for normal growth.

Save the Pig. Farrowing time for a large percentage of the Ohio spring pig crop is almost here. Unless some simple precautions are observed, there will be considerable loss at farrowing time or shortly following.

A week or ten days before farrowing, the sow should be removed from the rest of the herd and placed in a pen where she is expected to farrow so that she may become accustomed to her new home before farrowing. The pen should be provided with gear rails along the floor and seven or eight inches wide to prevent the sow from crowding the pigs into a corner or along the side of the pen and crushing them as she lies down. Do not have too much bedding in the pen as that interferes with the activities of pigs and increases the liability of them being tramped or lain on. However, a small amount of clean, dry bedding is essential.

Unless the weather is extremely cold or abnormal conditions prevail at farrowing time, the pigs will need little or no attention, but it is well to watch at that time to render assistance if necessary.

For twelve hours previous and about eighteen hours after farrowing the sow should have little or no feed except water from which the chills have been removed. Then several days should be taken to get the sow back on full feed again. Overfeeding around farrowing time is very likely to result in milk fever in the sow or scours in the pigs either one of which is likely to prove fatal.

Be sure that the sow and pigs get plenty of exercise as well as good wholesome food. A chance to get out into the sunlight will aid materially in keeping pigs healthy.

Offering Spud Specials. With the second largest potato crop on record, growers and dealers in many communities are making an attempt to move the large surplus by offering a special price for quantity purchases. From the consumer's point of view, the increased consumption of potatoes in the diet of many persons would be beneficial, according to specialists at the Ohio State University.

Potatoes supply mineral matter needed for building tissues of the body, the calcium building bone, magnesium and potassium building nerves and cells, sodium aiding digestion, iron building red corpuscles, and the combination of these salts overcoming the acidity of the blood, dissolving the carbon dioxide, and the bulk or cellulose aiding in the elimination of waste products.

Shorts and Middlings. At present it is more economical to buy apples by the barrel than by the box.

Avoid the necessity of shaving soap for the family wash by dissolving it in advance.

Planted too much of one vegetable or not enough of another in your garden last season? Might plan it on paper some of these days.

As a source of iron, potatoes, properly cooked, furnish nearly as much as do eggs and compare as favorably with cereals in the supply of time and phosphorus.

When pruning has been neglected for a number of years, it is better to extend the rejuvenation over two or three years rather than to do it all in one season.

Milk has its value as food not because of its fat value, but rather because of its ability to repair waste tissue, to supply material for growth, and to keep the body machinery in good working order and to keep it running smoothly.

STOP ITCHING ECZEMA
Penetrating, Antiseptic Zemo Will Help You

Never mind how often you have tried and failed, you can stop burning, itching eczema quickly by applying Zemo furnished by any druggist for 35c. Extra large bottle, $1.00. Healing begins the moment Zemo is applied. In short time usually every trace of eczema, tetter, pimples, rash, blackheads and similar skin diseases will be removed.

For clearing the skin and making it vigorously healthy, always use Zemo, the penetrating, antiseptic liquid. It is not a greasy salve and it does not stain. When others fail it is the one dependable treatment for skin troubles of all kinds.

In skin troubles, ordinary soaps are irritating and liable to aggravate the condition. Use Zemo soap. It is antiseptic, soothing, and hastens the process of healing.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skin seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frequently recommend Musterole for sore throats, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—cold of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION
Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have—

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 30c.

DECLARATION OF KOREAN INDEPENDENCE WILL BE OBSERVED TODAY

(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The second anniversary of the declaration of independence of Korea will be celebrated at the New York City Town Hall on March 2. The program will include addresses by former Senator William E. Mason, of Illinois, former Governor-General Newton Whiting Gilbert, of the Philippines, and Dr. Philip Jaisohn, former adviser of the Emperor of Korea.

On March 1, 1919, the Korean party opposed to the continuance of Japanese rule in Korea, declared Korea's independence of the Japanese, and an organization to work for Korea's freedom was formed with branches in the Korean colonies in the leading cities of the United States and Europe. The Korean independence committee in New York states that almost all the Koreans in America are affiliated with this organization. It is under the auspices of this organization that the celebration of the Korean Fourth of July will be held on March 2.

Closing Bonded Warehouses Only Brings Greater Flood of Whiskey Across Borders of This Country, Enforcement Agents Admit—Millions of Gallons of Liquors and Wines Are Finding Their Way Into the Country

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Let us shut the whiskey warehouses. That's the answer of the "wet" boys, the kink-pins of the bootlegging rings.

You don't need to go far from your own banqueting to hear that answer. It's a familiar one here, there, and everywhere.

The "wet guys" as they are termed on the street curb or in the clubs, wherever "booze talk" is heard, now place their chief reliance upon the inability of the government enforcement machine to cope with smuggling.

Smugglers are bringing in millions of gallons of whiskey, wines and other choice liquors. And they are doing it with ease. They are now place their chief reliance upon the inability of the government enforcement machine to cope with smuggling.

FAMOUS NATURALIST WILL SOON CELEBRATE HIS 84TH BIRTHDAY

(International News Service.)
PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 28.—"Plagues and famines and wars are fortuitous and not a part of the regular order like health, or growth or development. They are accidents of nature."

This is the observation of John Burroughs, famous naturalist, who is spending the winter at Pasadena, Glen, near here, and recording his observations on the psychology of old age. Mr. Burroughs will be 84 on April 2.

The great naturalist says he is "taking things in an easy way" for he feels he has about completed his life's work. His mind is as keen and alert as ever, but he complains that he tires quickly after long mental applications.

"I did not tire until after five or six hours of work until recently," he said. "Now I can't do much more than two hours at a stretch."

His latest published works, "Accepting the Universe," does not show any lessening of Mr. Burroughs' vigorous powers, for in it he discusses many phases of nature and human life.

Mr. Burroughs has a kindly face, a pleasant, well modulated voice and speaks with deliberation. His hearing is excellent and he readily answers to a voice spoken in a low tone even on another side of the room from him.

Religion is Spiritual Flowering
Some of his opinions on religion follow:

"I am persuaded that a man without religious faith is short of the proper human ideal. Religion, as I use the term, is a spiritual flowering, and the never blooms.

"The religion of a man that has no other aim than his own personal safety from some real or imaginary future calamity is of the selfish, ignoble kind.

"Amid the decay of creeds love of nature has high religious value. This has saved many persons in the past—saved them from mammon-worship and from the frivolity and sinistery of the crowd.

"Notwithstanding the fact that cold and suffering, war and pestilence, cyclones and earthquakes, still occur upon the relatively tiny ball that carries us through the vast sidereal spaces, good is greatly in the ascendency. The voyage is not all calm and sunshine, but it is safe, and the dangers from collision and shipwreck are very remote.

"The fact that flowers bloom and fruit and grains ripen, that the sun shines, that the rain falls, that food nourishes us, that evolution has brought us thus far on our way that our life of decent has survived all the hazards of the geologic ages, all point to the fact that we are on the winning side, that our well-being is secured in the constitution of things."

Creed for Right Living.
What might be termed a creed for right living is expressed by Mr. Burroughs in this way: "Do your work, deal justly, love righteousness, make the most of yourself, cherish the good, the beautiful, the true, practice the Christian and the heathen virtues of sobriety, meekness, reverence, charity, unselfishness, justice, mercy, singleness of purpose, obey the commandments, the Golden Rule, imbue your spirit with the wisdom of all ages, for this is the moral order of the world unaided."

Mr. Burroughs' home is at West Park, N. J. One of the familiar spots to visitors there is the naturalist's woodpile, where he spends many happy hours keeping in line physical trim and reflecting on the world as it drifts by him.

The raspberry is a native of temperate Europe and is also found in Asia.

KEEP BLOOD IN FIGHTING TRIM

Thin-Blooded People Should Strengthen the Blood With a Good Tonic to Keep Off Contagious Disease.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN

If You Tire Easily and Feel Run Down, Your Blood Needs More Red Corpuscles. Watch Your Blood Condition Now.

It is thin-blooded, anemic people that disease strikes first. If any of the disease germs that so often become epidemic catch you in a run-down condition, they are able to take hold and the first thing you know you are ill. But if you are in good condition, your blood vigorous, rich and red, your system is able to throw off the effects of germs that are so prevalent when an epidemic breaks out.

Make up your mind to this fact—you are either well or you are not well. And the common-sense thing to do is to be on the safe side. If you are in doubt, take that wonderful blood tonic, Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It makes blood rich and red. It increases the number of red corpuscles, and your system is better able to fight the ravages of epidemics.

Watch your children. If they are pale and wan and thin-blooded, give them Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid tablet form and is sold by druggists everywhere. The liquid and tablets have exactly the same medicinal value. Buy whichever you prefer, and be sure it is genuine "Gude's Pepto-Mangan." The name "Gude's" is on the package.—Adv. 2-28, 3-28

Cooking Meal for 24—Cost 9 Cents

You all know that for several years last past there has been much discussion of the H. C. L.—high cost of living; and gas rates have come in for a share of unwarranted criticism.

To show you that the criticism of our gas rates was unwarranted we want to tell you how we cooked and served a meal to twenty-four persons at a fuel cost of 9 cents.

At our Fostoria office, Mr. Ed L. Lepper, our local Manager, and Miss Brickell, our special demonstrator, prepared and served a dinner consisting of roast pork, baked potato, pumpkin pie, hot rolls and other viands to members of the Fostoria Council, newspaper men and friends to the number of 24. The cooking was done on an old range, with a half-ounce gas pressure, a total consumption of 200 cubic feet of gas, with an expense of 9 cents for fuel—less than a half cent per person served. This same demonstration was duplicated at our Norwalk office later and it fully corroborated the success of the Fostoria dinner as to efficiency and low gas consumption. You can secure just as economical and satisfactory results in your own home if you follow the instructions given by our demonstrators at the local gas office. . . .

LAUDER GIVES RECIPE FOR HEALTH

Scotch Comedian Believes in Working Hard in Open Air, Moderation and Wee Drop of Whiskey

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Work hard in the open air; be moderate in all things and occasionally take a wee drop of whisky, just to keep out the cold. This is the recipe for keeping young and fit as given here today by Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scotch comedian, who is known familiarly to theatregoers throughout the whole world.

The knight-comedian is typically Scotch in all things, and this was emphasized in his remarks upon American prohibition.

"I managed to get more than one drop of whisky in the United States in spite of prohibition," said Sir Harry. "I use telling lies; you can get anything in the States by paying for it. But it spoils the enjoyment to have to pay $25 a bottle for Scotch. Five pounds—just think of it." And, although the comedian was talking of Scotch he made a wry face.

Sir Harry is enthusiastic over real estate as a means of investing money. "I have got 14,000 acres in Argyleshire," he said, "and 10,000 sheep. All the money I have ever made upon the stage I have put in land. It is a solid investment and yields both profit and pleasure."

Sir Harry was dressed in a Glen-garry, a kilt of Moleskin tartan, and smoked the inevitable pipe. He was in the pink of health, and his recipe for keeping fit was his reply to congratulations upon his excellent condition.

Sir Harry said he had toured the whole of the British Empire and the United States, but of all the countries he has visited he likes New Zealand next to Scotland, because it is the most like Scotland.

NAVAL AVIATORS KILLED IN FALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Eugene L. Lindsay, 24, whose home is at 44 Floyd street, San Francisco, and Harold F. Stevens, 26, of Rockaway, N. Y., both attached to the naval air station at Rockaway Point, New York, were instantly killed late today when their airplane crashed to earth at the flying field.

The aviators were almost instantly killed when their flying boat crashed to the ground near a hangar. Lieutenant Stevens, the pilot, was banking for a turn at 800 feet elevation when the machine went into a tail spin. Stevens leaves a wife.

Lindsay, a chief machinist's mate, and Stevens took the boat out for a routine flight. The flying boat is believed to have struck an air pocket.

LORAIN CO. STANDS ELEVENTH IN CARS

According to statistics there are 527,277 passenger automobiles in the State of Ohio, and 80,702 trucks.

CAMPAIGN WILL COVER THE STATE

Nearly Five Thousand Ministers Will Meet to Make Plans for State Wide Campaign—Many Prominent Speakers Will be Heard

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Preparatory to a statewide campaign of evangelism to be carried out this spring, Ohio ministers will meet in interdenominational convention here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, it was announced tonight.

Plans for the meeting are being arranged by the Ohio federation of churches, which has invited 4,700 pastors from all parts of the state. Attending ministers will come as delegates from their respective congregations.

Addresses on various phases of evangelism will be made by church leaders from Ohio and other states in a program opening Tuesday afternoon and extending to Thursday noon. Sessions will be held at the First Congregational church.

Sessions begin Tuesday afternoon, Rev. F. Q. Blanchard, Euclid avenue Congregational church, Cleveland, will speak on "The Evangelism of Jesus in the Modern World." Rev. B. F. Lamb, secretary of the Ohio federation of churches, on "The Rural Church Situation in Ohio," and President J. Knox Montgomery, of Muskingum College, New Concord, on "Organizing the county for cooperative evangelism."

Tuesday evening's address will include "Educational evangelism" by President Walter G. Clippinger of Otterbein College, Westerville; "Religious Education" by Rev. Gaverty Keel, director of religion of Ohio State University, Columbus; and "What is the matter with the world," by Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal church, Cincinnati.

Group Meeting Wednesday Separate group meetings of ministers of the various denominations are scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Wednesday afternoon's session will open with an address on "Organizing the church for personal evangelism," by Rev. John L. Fort, Methodist Episcopal pastor of Louisville, Ky., who is author of the "unit system" of church organization used in his denomination. Other speakers at this session will be:

Rev. F. L. Paffley, Executive secretary of the Congregational evangelist commission, New York on "Using the material at hand for evangelistic work," and Rev. Jesse M. Bader, secretary of the evangelistic commission of the Disciples' evangelism, Gipsy Smith noted English evangelist, now conducting a campaign in Columbus will give the closing talk of this session.

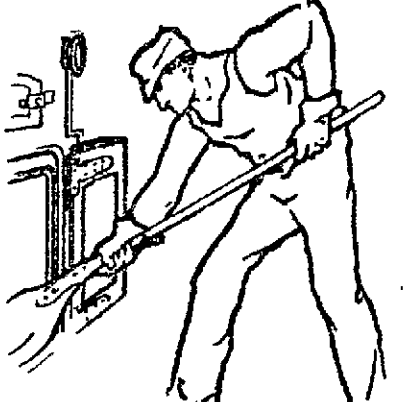

President Thompson to Speak Wednesday evening President W. O. Thompson of Ohio State University will speak on "The Christian's Responsibility." Other addresses at the closing session will be: "The old church in the new day," by Rev. Moses Breaze Columbus, secretary of the Presbyterian laymen's forward movement, and "The community program of the church," by Rev. Oliver C. Weist, pastor of Grandview community church, Columbus.

Presiding officers who will have charge of the various sessions include: Rev. Robert E. Pugh, Columbus; Rev. F. W. Luce, Cleveland; Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati business man, and Rev. I. J. Capill of Cleveland.

LOCAL COMPANY HAS SQUEEZED WATER FROM CAPITAL STOCK

Elyria stockholders in the International I. T. S. Rubber company will be pleased to learn that the directors of the company have decided to retire $600,000 worth of the common stock, leaving only a similar amount of preferred stock outstanding.

Five of the eight directors of the company are now residents of this city and President Frank J. Scholl, of Chicago, is the only one of town official connected with the company, with the exception of Harry Swarschild of New York, who is one of the directors.

By eliminating the common stock generally given away to promoting the sale of the preferred stock, the company has squeezed the water out of its securities and the preferred stock really represents double the value it did before the common stock was removed from the market.

MARINES WHO WRECKED NEWSPAPER SENTENCED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Twenty-one marines who wrecked the plant of the newspaper "La Tribuna" at Managua, Nicaragua, several weeks ago, have been tried by court martial and sentenced to five years in prison and dishonorable discharge from the service, the navy department announced this afternoon.

The proceedings of the general court martial have been approved by Rear Admiral Henry F. Bryan, commanding the special service squadron in Latin American waters, but the sentence was commuted to two years confinement, upon the court's recommendation that clemency be shown.

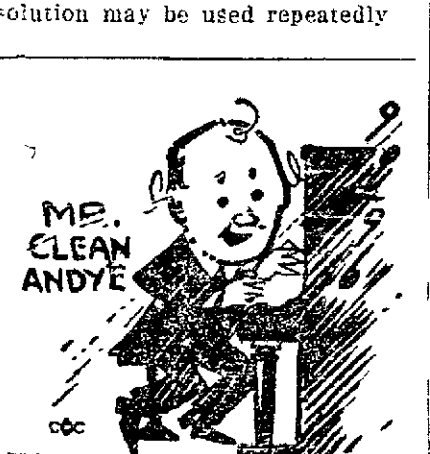

POTATO DISEASES ATTACK CROP IN THREE WAYS

Seeking to aid farmers in combating many of the diseases that attacked the potato crop, the department of botany at the Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster, has for distribution a bulletin known as "Potato Diseases." It is sent free to residents of Ohio.

Many diseases are recognized that may attack the plant through the tubers, vines or soil, any one of which is capable of destroying the entire crop.

New diseases appear from year to year and the accumulative effect has been to reduce the potato acreage almost 40 per cent during the past few years.

Scab, a tuber disease, requires treatment of the seed. Botanists have worked out a system in which the seed tubers are soaked for an hour and a half in solution of one pint of formaldehyde to 20 gallons of water. This solution may be used repeatedly.
